Could You Make a Livelihood Without Eyesight?

Surely it seems reasonable to take good care of the eyes—which work for us sixteen hours a day—and which can never be replaced!

Bad lighting, over work, ill health—and advancing years—all affect the eyes. Science has provided an eyeglass lens for every eyesight need. We will conscientiously advise you regarding the care of your eyes. Don't delay finding out.

RUG BURGLAR FILES MOTION OF APPEAL AFTER HEARING DOUBLE LIFETIME SENTENCE

Sentences ranging from an aggregate minimum of 11 years to a maximum of "two lifetimes and 15 years" were meted out today by Superior Judge Z. B. West to James Wilton, convicted "rug burglar." Wilton was sentenced for the three burglaries of which he was found guilty, two being of first degree and the other second degree.

MAN IS CRITICALLY HURT IN LONG FALL

Following a fall of 80 feet from the top of an oil derrick, at Huntington Beach, at 9:30 a.m. today, a man, whose name was given as Whitmore, 30, is in the Santa Ana Valley hospital in a critical condition. The man's legs were fractured near the knees and it is thought that he is suffering from internal injuries.

Defiant to the last, in the attitude that caused him to reject the attorney appointed by the court to defend him and play a lone hand, Wilton promptly filed notice of appeal from each of the three sentences to prison.

Before receiving sentence, he had played the various legal cards by filing, first, a motion for arrest of judgment, which was denied, and then a motion for a new trial, which met the same fate. The customary grounds, alleging misdirection of the jury and error of law by the court, as well as a verdict contrary to the evidence and the law, were set forth in the motions for new trial. These motions, with other papers filed by Wilton, were prepared in approved legal form and were accompanied by courtroom rumors that a certain local attorney had been secretly advising Wilton regarding them.

"Don't you think that the person who has been helping you with these matters should have the backbone to come into court and assist you?" remarked Judge West to Wilton, when the latter admitted his ignorance regarding one point of procedure.

After taking his sentences calmly and filing his notice of appeal, Wilton continued his defiant attitude by refusing to answer the questions customarily applied to a convicted defendant sentenced to prison. These questions related to his past history, family affairs, conditions of health and his habits, Wilton flatly refused to answer them.

Judge West pronounced the sentences to run successively, two of them being for not less than five years and the other being from 1 to 15 years. The burglaries charged against Wilton were committed at the homes of B. Schroeder, on Placentia avenue; John Wentz, Orange Grove avenue, and E. Kahley, Palm avenue, near Katella road.

chemist, and Dr. W. Linder, revenue chemist, in giving the list of alcoholic medicine, said the government's efforts are directed to reduce to a minimum the liquids which can be consumed straight and those which can be converted into potable alcohol.

All these medicines, containing from 3 to 90 per cent of alcohol, are reasonably cheap and easily obtained, the chemists said.

However, the seasoned Volstead act violators prefer bootleg liquors and most of the alcoholic medicines are consumed by toppers in the ultra-dry territories, where the moonshiner and blind tiger are nonexistent, it was said.

TRIESTE, April 2.—Enraged because the young gallants of the neighboring village of Zviric lured away all their girls, the youth of Stubizze recently attacked their rivals in a bloody encounter, fighting a pitched battle in the market-place of Stubizze. Three were killed, and 200 wounded. The girls fled in terror.

Zubizze and Zviric are two villages of Croatia, whose names betoken the pugnacious character of their inhabitants. The girls of Stubizze are the pick of the countryside, while Zviric's maidens are considered plain.

As a consequence, all the country swains and especially those of Zviric, flock into Stubizze to woo the town's fair ladies. This aroused the ire of the Stubizze boys, provoking an increasing tension between the Stubizzians and the Zviricites.

The climax was reached at the annual Stubizze fair, when the lads of the village seeing their rivals talking and laughing with the Stubizze girls, while they themselves were left out in the cold, began to cast insults and threats at the Zviricites.

It was not long before the various groups of contestants drew up in two lines in the market square, and the pitched battle began. It started with stone-throwing and very soon a first class free-for-all was in progress.

Revolvers and knives were drawn, and the Stubizze maidens ran away, shrieking with terror.

When the police finally succeeded in clearing up the row, they found three dead and some 200 wounded in the market square.

Dress up for Easter

Pride in your own appearance is reason enough for dressing up for Easter. Pleasing the lady in the case is another. She knows the world judges by appearances. She wouldn't enjoy having the glances of approval that greet her new Easter outfit, change to commiseration when they turn to you. So, dress up for Easter for the lady's sake—and for your own, too.

The Colorado River project is the most important material plan for the material improvement of California that has been under consideration for many years. It means the continuance of the phenomenal growth of that section and to Northern California the assurance of retaining its own resources for its own use. It means, putting the Colorado River to work for the use of man, and putting it under control, to remove the menace to the safety of the Imperial Valley. All California will join in the hope that no further political obstacles will stand in the way of so great a constructive measure.

CRITICISM OF JAZZ CALLED PREMATURE

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 2.—

Jazz music should not be criticized until time has tested its enduring power, in the opinion of

Prof. Burlingame Hill, member of the music department of Harvard university and one of America's foremost composers.

Snap-fine judgments being passed daily on modern music were described as "premature" by Professor Hill, who said jazz might eventually find a lasting place in the world of music.

"The world-wide influence of jazz and the keen appreciation of its qualities by European composers of note," said Professor

Hill, "have stimulated discussion as to the possible utilization of jazz style by serious American composers.

"Dance forms always have played an important role in the history of instrumental music. The eighteenth century suite consisted of contemporary dances. The minuet and waltz have entered the sanctuary of the symphony and in chamber music the polka has figured.

"Symphonic or chamber music works may gain in piquancy from the inclusion of jazz style. Such works do not please the lover of jazz because they seem artificial.

The composer of jazz is balked in his ambition to write "highbrow" works because of technical inexperience in the larger forms.

"Since both the symphonic and the jazz composer are limited by their relative ignorance of the other's field, it is questionable

whether hybrid works of distinction

can be produced by either for some time to come."

HISTORICAL NAVAL FIGHT CALLED TAME

"They just fired a few shots at each other that bounced right off,"

Robert W. Burton, oldest engineer get excited over historical reports of the battle.

"The fellow up in the conning

tower of the Monitor was struck blind," explained Burton. "So the ship went wherever it had a mind to.

Nobody knew that. I was there in the harbor on the Wabash and saw the whole thing. It wasn't any fight."

For 10 years Burton was a sea-

CONVICT SHIP SAILS LOADED WITH FELONS

L.A. ROCHELLE, France, April 2.—La Martiniere, the last convict ship afloat in this 20th century of the civilized world, has sailed for French Guiana, carrying $400000 worth of long-term sentence men. It was the first shipload of convicts for this South American station in more than two years.

La Martiniere was painted a weird combination of red, yellow, black and white, and seemed to have emerged from the Middle Ages, until one derelict under stress of emotion, waving goodbye to his sweet heart across a port, collapsed and died, bringing back the grim present.

No Fend Embraces Await Arrival

No joyful welcome or fond embraces await the shackled passengers on this sinister ship, for their destination is Devil's Island and a living death.

They were trotted out of St. Martin's penitentiary between rows of steel-helmeted soldiers with rifles and fixed bayonets, and their step was heavy and faltering.

One man stood out among the spineless, dejected multitude, stolid, silent, with fierce moustaches ruffled by the northwesterly wind. He attracted the attention of all.

"He is Gabriel Mourey," a guard, armed to the teeth, responded to a query. "He is the man who robbed the American banker, Shattuck."

Mourey heard the comment and smiled confidently as he recognized a correspondent who had attended his trial.

"Tell them," he said, "that I will be the butler for some high class society people in New York City inside of two years."

Most of Convicts Tattooed

Most of the convicts were tattooed in an elaborate manner with all sorts of weird designs and blasphemous and revolutionary mottoes.

One lifer, who escaped the guillotine by presidential commutation, had a blue-black mark running clear around his neck about the width of a linen collar. Above the line were tattooed the words: "Executioner, when cutting, follow the dotted line."

Alphonse Gabriel Mourey, alias Henri Boilat, who goes to Devil's Island on the convict ship to serve a life imprisonment commuted from the death sentence, was butler for Albert R. Hattuck at his home, 19 Washington square, New York, and twice robbed him. His second crime was to hold up the Shattuck family in April, 1923. He and his gang locked them in the wine cellar of the Shattuck residence and stole $90,000 worth of jewelry.

Mourey was traced to Paris and Shattuck proceeded there, later appealing to the president of France to save Mourey from the guillotine. Shattuck paid a reward of $15,000 for the capture of Mourey. He died at Lenox, Mass., in April 1925.

Four Cages in Hold

The Martiniere is an ordinary rum ship from Trinidad, especially fitted up to carry felon freight. The hold is divided into four steel cages, each occupied by 170 convicts. The only furnishings are hammocks for sleeping.

In the bow of the ship are half a dozen cells for punishing disorderly felons by solitary confinement. These cells are so small the inmates are unable to lie down and they pitch dark.

Pipes from the steamer's boilers lead to all the cages, so in case of trouble among the convicts, blasts of scalding steam and boiling water are pumped among them, subduing uprisings or fights, but burning the innocent as well as the guilty.

Devil's Island is one of the three isles. Due Salute which lies off the coast of French Guiana. The islands constitute France's penal colony. The administrative headquarters are on Isle Royale, which is nearest the mainland and which has a large hospital and workshop for the convicts.

To the seaward is Devil's Island, where Capt. Alfred Dreyfus was sent and held prisoner from 1894 to 1899, after having been convicted of espionage. Dreyfus, after world-wide agitation, obtained a new trial and was acquitted. The Isle de Saint Joseph is the third of the little archipelago. The islands have an elevation of from 100 to 200 feet. The climate is salubrious.

Bear Will Sail
Again Into Seas
Of North Country

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—The veteran coast guard cutter Bear will sail out of the Golden Gate in May and turn her bow northward on her annual "farewell" trip to Alaskan and Arctic waters.

Each year brings reports that the old coast guard patrol ship is to be replaced by a modern vessel—but each spring mariners see her back again in the far north.

The cutter seems old enough to retire. She was built in 1882 in Scotland and began sailing for Uncle Sam in 1888.

She has been crushed by ice, stranded and battered by heavy seas and nearly lost many times. Yet her timbers are sound.

No steel vessel could stand the cruc of ice the way the Bear's wooden hull has done. Arctic sailors say. None is greater in his praise for the Bear than is Capt. C. S. Cochran.

"I'm glad to get another chance to go back to the 'top of the world' on her," Cochran said, when he learned he was assigned to command the vessel on this summer's trip. Unlike many officers old in the coast guard service, who seek shore duty, Captain Cochran has always been a willing master of the craft.

"Last year I was condemned to shore duty," he said. "I guess I have taken the Bear up north more than any other coast guard officer. They say the icy seas are full of perils, but I never worried. The cutter has brought her men back safely dozens of times and she'll do it again."

Tibetan Flappers Disdain Ways of Sisters In West

LONDON, April 2.—The flappers of France, Great Britain and America would win no prizes in Tibetan beauty contests. So says Mrs. Louise M. King in her book, "We Tibetans." She is Tibetan-born. Her maiden name was Rin-Chen Lha.

"Westerners are not good looking, according to our standards," says the Tibetan woman. "Your noses are too big, and often stick out like kettle spouts; your ears too large, like the pig's ears; your eyes blue, like children's marbles; your eye sockets are too deep and eyebrows too prominent, too slim."

Then, she adds, the Tibetan women do not smoke. Neither do they use powder or rouge. But in some districts of Tibet the women cover their faces with black pigment to protect the skin from the wind and sun.

Nuns are the only old maids in Tibet. All other women marry. In fact, some of them have several husbands and they fear no competition from the woman of the west, with all their aids to beauty.

PROHIBITION TO PLAY PART IN CONGRESS RACE

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Irrespective of the fate of the Edge resolution, proposing a national referendum on prohibition in 1928, a survey of the approaching congressional elections discloses that between one-third and one-half of the voters of the country are going to have an opportunity to express their convictions on modification of the Volstead act this year.

The wet and dry question is entering into more congressional contests this year than in any election since the adoption of the eighteenth amendment. This much is conceded by both sides. The drys blame the continued agitation in congress and the "wet" newspaper polls for it.

Issue Is Dominant

The keenest contests, and the ones that will rive the attention of the country, will take place in Pennsylvania and Illinois. In these states the issue is dominant and clear cut. In Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts and Missouri the issue is less important, but nevertheless strongly felt, and in isolated districts throughout the states the issue is present in more or less virulent form.

The seven states named have a population of nearly 40 million, or a little more than one-third the total of the country. It is in these states the modificationists are concentrating their greatest efforts in the current campaign. They plan to make every candidate for congress declare himself flatly on the issue of modification.

153 Seats at Stake

The wets have chosen the populous states as their battle ground. In the seven states there are 153 seats in the house at stake—just about the size of the present modification vote in the present congress.

The prohibition issue is the paramount one in Pennsylvania's bitter senatorial primary fight between Gov. Gifford Pinchot, Senator George Wharton Pepper and Representative William S. Vare. There the issue is so close the Anti-Saloon league, for the first time in its history, has felt the necessity of choosing between two "dry" candidates and supporting one to avert a possible defeat. The league will support Governor Pinchot, who is accounted "drier" than Senator Pepper, although the latter yesterday came out for strict enforcement and no modification.

Has Good Chance

The drys in congress are thoroughly alarmed over this situation. With the wet vote going solidly to arid and the dry vote being split between Pinchot and Pepper, it is conceded Vare has a good chance to win. The Democrats, meanwhile, are not without that the Republicans split will result in so much ticket-scratching in November the Democratic nominee might slip through.

Scarcely less spectacular is the approaching battle in Illinois, where "boss," is running for the senate on an out-and-out modification platform.

Meanwhile, Wayne B. Wheeler, generalissimo of the Anti-Saloon league, declared that the Edge resolution for a referendum in 1928 stood no chance of passage in the present dry congress. Unbiased observers concurred in this view. But there will be sporadic referendums all over the country, notwithstanding.

someday, not long hence, the Bear will be tied up here in Puget Sound to rot, but I guess she's doomed for that fate.

"She's piled up on the shore and in the ice so many times that it is a cinch she won't quit working that way."

For the woman who wants the assurance a Corset gives its wearer—assurance of style and support—this model is in great favor! Elastic and fine, brocaded material.

No steel vessel could stand the cruc of ice the way the Bear's wooden hull has done. Arctic sailors say. None is greater in his praise for the Bear than is Capt. C. S. Cochran.

"I'm glad to get another chance to go back to the 'top of the world' on her," Cochran said, when he learned he was assigned to command the vessel on this summer's trip. RAILROAD REFORM WORKED IN ITALY

ROME, April 2.—A deficit of 60 million dollars on the operation of the Italian state railroads has been turned into a profit of 10 millions under the Mussolini regime.

Nine railroad employees per mile was the rule in 1922; now it is six. The amount of freight handled was $8 million tons in 1922. This increased to 62 million tons in 1925.

These are some of the figures which show the revolution worked in railroad methods under the present government.

Before the Fascist cause triumphed, the railroad system of Italy boasted the major "red" union of the country. Though there was a nominal eight-hour day, the railroad employees' union, by counting the time men spent in coming and going from their work, succeeded in reducing the effective working hours to about six and sometimes even less.

Much Interest In American Passion Play Manifested

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., April 2.—Bloomington promises to become the Oberammergau of America. This, the third year of the production of the Passion Play in this city, is attracting nation-wide interest and inquiries are pouring in from all parts of the country regarding it.

Those who have seen both the Bavarian play and the one produced here seem to be unanimous that not only is the acting of equal character, but the scenery, stage effects, and lighting are similar.

The huge stage of the Scottish Rite temple, where the play is produced, has a width of 100 feet and the building will seat 5000 persons.

Several hundred persons take part in the play.

Friendly Group Meets
For Bridge Luncheon
At Country Club

Community Players
Revel Gaily at
The Barn

Mrs. Jess O. Goodman
Entertains at Smart
Bridge Function

Engagement Revealed
To Girl Friends at 500 Party

HEN Mrs. Morris Cain entertained the members of a friendly bridge club to which she belongs she chose to stage her hospitality Wednesday at the Santa Ana Country club where the afternoon of cards was preceded by an enjoyable luncheon.

The guests were assembled in the informal card room on the second floor where luncheon was served at one large table, attractive with spring flowers and dainty favors. Later, small tables were arranged for bridge. Mrs. Cain had chosen attractive prizes the first of which was taken by Mrs. Cora Cavins, second by Mrs. Jess Goodman and consolation by Mrs. Charles Bowman of Tustin. A surprise gift was also offered when one of the cards was marked with a cross and then slipped back into the deck. When each guest had drawn, fortune was found to have favored Mrs. Cavins who thus took two prizes.

Enjoying Mrs. Cain's hospitality and the pleasant surroundings of the country club, were Mesdames W. D. Doll, A. B. Watson, William Remchler, Frank Hammatt, Edward Walker, Otto Haan, Cora Cavins, Jess Goodman, Good Adams, Hugh Plumb and Charles Bowman.

All Fools' Night Is Celebrated Gaily
At St. Ann's

The April Fool dance sponsored at St. Ann's Inn last night by the junior division of the Greater Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce went over with the snap characteristic of affairs given by the division.

Approximately 60 couple were present to enjoy the fine program of dance music offered by Joe Sanford's orchestra. With individual identities hidden to some extent by masks the dancers unleashed themselves and entered in to the spirit of the occasion with a vim that made the party a lively one.

While everyone on the floor in the early part of the evening, was required to wear masks, very few were in costume. The high spirit of the evening started when balloons were released and the dancers engaged in a good-natured battle to capture or destroy them. Further excitement was created when noise producers and confetti were passed out.

Mr. and Mrs. Ridley Smith were awarded prizes for the most original costumes, their characterization being that of "Christopher's Quality Kids." Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Havens were given prizes for the most amusing costumes. The judges were Mrs. J. Riley Huber, R. L. Bisby and Horace Fine.

The committee in charge was composed of Roy Lyon, Eddie Holmes, C. M. Featherly, M. C. Robinson and Kenneth Van Slyck.

Birthday Honors
Accorded Two Guests

When Mrs. Lester Archer entertained the members of a friendly little club Wednesday afternoon at her home on El Portal street, the occasion offered special honors to two members, Mrs. Arthur Worden and Mrs. Harold Johnston, who chanced to be celebrating their birthdays.

This was made apparent at the refreshment hour when two big birthday cakes were produced by the hostess, each glittering with candles and garlanded with flowers. Guests sought their places at the table by Easter cards and at each place was a dainty corsage of spring flowers with much larger corsages for the two honorees. Ice cream was served with the birthday cakes and coffee.

Needwork and chat enlivened the afternoon hours. Those present included hostesses and honorees, Mrs. Archer, Mrs. Worden and Mrs. Johnston, Mrs. Orfin Hunter, her mother and house-guest, Mrs. Allen of Ingleswood; Mrs. Elton Holmes, Mrs. A. M. Blanding, Mrs. Burton Rawley and Mrs. Ira Mercer.

Birthday Party
Planned by Friends

Pleasantly reminded that it was her birthday, Mrs. Harold Johnston was made honoree at a gay surprise party last night at her North Rose street home when a little group of friends arrived to offer their birthday wishes.

Bridge was enjoyed during the evening and was followed by a merry hour during which the guests produced a delicious birthday cake, glittering with candles and arranged in a nest of flowers and ferns on a great tray. Sandwiches, coffee and doughnuts were served with the cake.

Mrs. Johnston was given many attractive birthday remembrances by her guests who included her husband, a party to the secret plans, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Blanding, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Mercer, Miss Ferne Beisecker and Messrs. William and Wallace Blanding.

FAMOUS SCOPES MONKEY CASE IN TENNESSEE HAS COUNTERPART IN TOWN OF VRANJA, YUGOSLAVIA

John T. Scopes got "in dutch" for proclaiming evolutionary theories at Dayton, and now Vranja, Yugoslavia, is fuming over similar utterances by Prof. Branislav Petronevitch (right). Meantime the old gent in the center wonders just what it's all about.

Drowsy Peace Roused As Learned Man Arrives From Belgrade

LONDON, April 2.—We will have no monkey business here!"

This firm declaration by a Serbian Orthodox high priest has all Yugoslavia aroused more than the question of the Bulgarian boundaries, the Hungarian bank-note forgeries, and the high cost of living. All the "witches" and "jitches" of the country are at daggers drawn. For—

Yugoslavia has its Dayton, Tenn., and its name is Vranja.

And Vranja has its John T. Scopes, and his name is P. Karadjitch.

And Karadjitch, like Scopes, is a school teacher.

A few weeks ago the celebrated Serbian scientist, Prof. Branislav Petronevitch, of the University of Belgrade, went to Vranja to lecture on evolution. The invitation was extended by Karadjitch.

Peace Flew Out Window

The drowsy peace of Vranja was rudely shattered when Professor Petronevitch came. The professor isn't a fundamentalist. Far from it! He's an up-to-date scientist and he goes the whole length in belief in the evolutionary origin of the Serbs and other human beings.

The professor got back to the metropolitan air of Belgrade without any mishap. But he left a big storm behind him.

All Vranja was divided into two camps—the anti-monkeys, led by the Orthodox clergy, and the pro-monkeys, led by Karadjitch. They almost came to blows, and it looked as if "witches" and "jitches" were going to be spilled all over Vranja monkey business, with the immaculate pavements of the town.

Finally cooler counsels prevailed and it was decided to fight the thing out not with fists and clubs, but with litigation.

The Orthodox priests have brought a legal action against Karadjitch, claiming that the teaching of evolution is an offense against religion, morality and the state. Conviction of the school teacher ordinarily would mean that he would lose his job.

Will Appeal to Chief

But Karadjitch declares that if he is convicted, he will appeal to his chief, Stepan Raditch.

The latter's name sounds like a vegetable, but, as a matter of fact, he is one of the biggest men in Yugoslavia. He is minister of public instruction. And he's rather radical.

If worst comes to worst, and Raditch is called on to decide the Vranja monkey business, with the

CHAPMAN IN LAST BATTLE FOR LIFE

HARTFORD, Conn., April 2.—Expressing confidence that Gerald Chapman may yet be saved from the gallows, April 6, attorneys for the bandit today prepared a summation of new evidence for submission to Judge Jennings in superior court, on a motion for new trial.

It is believed some of the evidence has not been disclosed thus far, but local authorities are said to attach little significance to the testimony of new witnesses, who have come forward at the last minute.

County Detective Edward Hickey today ridiculed a story credited to a Kentucky negro, who is alleged to have said he at one time drove a car for Chapman and was in New Britain the night Patrolman Skelly was murdered. It is for the Skelly slaying that Chapman is sentenced to die.

MUST PAY ALIMONY
MILL GROVE, Ind., April 2.—Robert Blair, 82, has been ordered to pay his wife, Julia Blair, 74, an allowance of $25 a month. Blair is a Civil war veteran and is said to be the oldest man ever before the criminal court on a charge of wife desertion.

GETS BEER SHOWER.
BLOOMINGTON, Ind., April 2.—Ninety-nine bottles of beer were emptied in the street in front of the city hall here recently by Bert Chambers, a member of the city police force. The boar was confiscated in a raid. A slicker was borrowed from the fire department to save the policeman from getting sprayed, for every time a bottle was opened the home brew shot into the air.

DISHRAG IDENTIFIES CAR.
WICHITA, Kas., April 2.—A dishrag placed in the pocket of an automobile last spring enabled the owner to regain possession of the car when it was stolen. The engine number had been changed, but identification of the dishrag was sufficient evidence for the sheriff to release the vehicle.

RACIN' INTEREST OOMS.
LONDON, April 2.—Interest in horse racing in England has been increasing greatly. Statistics issued by the Racing Calendar show that during the last flat racing season 4690 horses ran under Jockey Club rules, this being the greatest total on record. In 1827 only 1166 horses ran during the season.

TO WRITE FOR MOVIES.
NAUEN, April 2.—Queen Marie of Rumania has signed a contract to write a series of thrilling movie scenarios for an American film concern, according to a report from Paris.

powerful Orthodox church demanding that Karadjitch get the hook—well, there will be some exciting times, mates, down in Yugoslavia!

CLOCK-LIKE REGULARITY HIS REWARD
Kellogg's ALL-BRAN relieved constipation of long standing

Mr. Charles R. Pollard, of Walworth, Wisconsin, will testify that habit-forming pills and drugs were even worse than useless in relieving his constipation.

"I am writing to tell you of the grand results I have received from using your Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Before I commenced using your ALL-BRAN food I was obliged to take a laxative every day. This became a most annoying aggravation to this trouble and made it all worse . . . but since using your ALL-BRAN I have laid all my laxative medicine and pills away and my bowels are as regular as a clock."

CHARLES R. POLLARD,
Walworth, Wisconsin.

Don't let constipation drag you down, and don't become a slave to habit-forming pills and drugs. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, eaten regularly, is guaranteed to relieve constipation or your money is returned, because it is 100% bran. Eat two tablespoonsfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Ready-to-eat with milk or cream. Use it in cooking with the recipes given on the package. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek, Michigan. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere.

Japan Considers New Pension Plan

TOKIO, April 2.—An old age pension scheme, to be operated through the savings department of the postoffice, has been worked out by the Minister of Communications, to be submitted this month to the Diet for approval. Anyone may become a pensioner after fifty years of age, either by depositing a lump sum in the postal savings bank or by paying an annual premium, the amounts for persons living to a normal age working out at a little over the ordinary bank rate of interests for savings accounts. Under the percentage table, a person aged 30, by depositing $250 and leaving it on deposit, would receive an annual pension of $50 a year for life after reaching the age of 50.

HAIRPINS TO RESCUE
PITTSFIELD, Mass., April 2.—A suburban car filled with high school pupils, enroute home, became stalled because of a burned fuse. The motorman asked if any one happened to have a piece of wire. The boy passengers searched their pockets and it looked like a long walk until an old-fashioned maid donated two hair pins and soon the car was speeding homeward.

U. S. INDICTS POLITICIAN ON PERJURY COUNT

NEW YORK, April 2.—John T. King, former Republican national committeeman of Connecticut, was indicted by a federal grand jury here today on charges of perjury in connection with his 1921 income tax return.

King has been prominent in Republican politics for years. In the pre-convention campaign of 1919-20, he first managed the interests of General Wood and then later became associated with the late Senator Boies Penrose in defeating Wood's aspirations, blocking the nomination of former Governor Lowden of Illinois, and nominating the late Warren G. Harding.

Assistant Attorney Simpson took King into federal court immediately for pleading.

He was forced to wait during the trial of an oil stock fraud case and then entered a plea of not guilty. His attorney, William Lahey, asked for an early trial.

Judge Knowlton set the trial for a week from Monday and set bail at $2500.

Restaurant Man Didn't Eat His Own Food

"It's pretty tough for a restaurateur man to have stomach trouble. My customers were always telling me I ought to eat in a good restaurant. The fact was I couldn't eat a thing that didn't bloat me up and no medicine or doctors helped me. I tried everything recommended and at last MAYRIS, and I assure you I didn't have to look any further. Since taking it I have been a well man." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince any druggist.—Adv.

The dairyman aligned with Stinson contend that the ordinance is confiscatory and does not accomplish its purpose of protecting the public from consuming milk from tubercular cows.

Parents Jailed For Keeping Boy Prisoner In Box

TACOMA, April 2.—Because the mother each day imprisoned her 3-year-old son in a large box in their home, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schonschneider were sentenced to six months in jail.

The juvenile officers recently investigated reports of neglect by the family and discovered the boy in his prison, alone and without food and water. He had been there all day. The neighbors testified that it was the habit of Mrs. Schonschneider to place the lad in the box each morning after the father went to work, take an infant daughter in her arms and depart, returning in the evening.

The father admitted that he once was forced to adopt the same method of disposing of the child when his wife was away from home for three weeks.

Probe of Girl's Death Is Dropped

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—Further investigation into the death of Mrs. Marie Isbell, 23, formerly of Riverside, who fell five stories to her death from a hotel window, was dropped by police today.

Authorities were satisfied with the stories told by Miss Romanza Garcia and two young men, Thomas J. Elria and E. F. Ramby, who declared Mrs. Isbell had been drunk.

Miss Garcia said she put her friend to bed about three hours before the fatal plunge, after the intoxicated woman complained of being unable to see.

Police admitted the possibility that Mrs. Isbell might have decided to commit suicide in the course of a "crying jag," but said it was more probable the young waitress fell to her death when she went to the window for air.

DAIRYMEN LOSE INITIAL ROUND IN T. B. FIGHT

DENIED A restraining order to prevent the new county dairy ordinance from going into effect, John Stinson, Orange dairyman, who is testing the ordinance, today had taken steps to start fresh court proceedings against enforcement of the ordinance, which now is in effect.

The Los Angeles county superior court, in a decision handed down late yesterday in Stinson's case, ruled that no restraining order could be issued to prevent the ordinance from becoming effective, and that the injunction, if issued at all, must be directed against enforcement of the ordinance after it is in effect.

Judge Hartley Shaw delivered the ruling in department 8 of the Los Angeles county superior court.

To overcome the technically thus confronting them, Attorneys Clyde A. Payne and James A. Van Law, representing Stinson, immediately prepared a new complaint for injunction against enforcement of the ordinance and filed the papers late yesterday in the Los Angeles court.

Stinson is testing the constitutionality of the county ordinance on behalf of a group of dairymen who opposed its passage and who objected to its provisions requiring tuberculin tests for dairy cows and the branding of cows found to be "reactors."

The dairymen aligned with Stinson contend that the ordinance is confiscatory and does not accomplish its purpose of protecting the public from consuming milk from tubercular cows.

Cold Easter In East Forecast

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Easter will be fair but cold over the United States east of the Rocky mountains, the weather bureau forecast today. Coonskin coats will be more suitable to Sunday's fashion parades than spring dresses, from the standpoint of temperature, which will bear no hint of spring, according to Forecaster C. L. Mitchell.

BAVARIAN MAYOR IS RIVAL TO SOLOMON

RACHEL, Bavaria, April 2.—In this little village with its Biblical name, King Solomon has found a rival.

A bicyclist rode down a goose. The farmer to whom the dead goose belonged promptly appeared and demanded damages. The cyclist offered 50 cents heart balm—or, as he put it, stomach balm. The farmer demanded $1.50 in return for which the cyclist was to keep the goose.

A long, fruitless argument ensued and both finally agreed to appeal to the local mayor as arbitrator.

"You, sir," the mayor told the bicyclist, "you want to pay 50 cents and you want the farmer to retain his goose."

"And you, my neighbor," he said to the farmer "you want $1.50 and are willing to let your adversary keep the goose."

The mayor turned to the cyclist. "Give me fifty cents," he commanded.

He turned to the farmer. "Give me the goose," he ordered. Both complied.

The mayor pulled $1.00 from his own pocket and handed the farmer $1.50. Then he carefully wrapped up the cheap goose and tucked it under his arm.

"Now you're both satisfied," he told the smiling pair, "and what's more, I am, too."

BATTALION OF BUNK FLEECES SYMPATHETIC

NEW YORK, April 2.—Raising funds for disabled and needy World War veterans is one of the most profitable projects of the fake charity promoter, the New York Evening Post says. The armistice scarcely had been signed when the "battalions of bunk" began an offensive against kind-hearted storekeepers and housewives that netted millions of dollars. Funds were organized for shell-shocked veterans, gassed and tubercular soldiers, crippled men in need of crutches and blinded soldiers deserving mountain homes.

Little to Worthy Causes
The money given for the relief of sick and disabled soldiers was misappropriated," he said, "and only 1 cent out of each dollar reached a worthy destination."

A meeting of the heads of welfare organizations of all religious faiths will be called in the immediate future, to ask their co-operation with the department of public welfare in combating fake drives and superfluous charities, and to define the line between public and private charities, Commissioner Coler says.

HIDE PROCEEDS OF DRIVES
Commissioner Coler, of the department of public welfare, said several million dollars had been raised fraudulently in New York City since 1918 by organizations purporting to aid ex-soldiers, but actually hiding the proceeds away in secret bank accounts.

Many of the solicitors for fake charities are men who say they are veterans. But even this is not always necessary for success.

Two mop women, wearing scrubbing floors, decided to organize the "Ex-Services Men's Aid." Their equipment consisted of several neighbors' children and copies of a small pamphlet, "The Plan How to Respect It and How to Display It."

Moved By Children
Their sad stories and the tearful presence of the ill-clad children drew contributions from persons on the street who were moved by the outrageous plight of our poor war buddies."

The women were arrested for soliciting funds without a license, and when they admitted the money was to go only to their own support they were sentenced to 90 days in jail each.

Representative Hamilton Fish Jr., of New York, told of the action of the postoffice department in denying the use of the mails to the National Disabled Soldiers' League when it learned part of the contributions were converted to "improper and personal gain."

LAWYER TRIES TO SAVE HALL'S LIFE

SACRAMENTO, April 2.—Every legal resource will be resorted to in an effort to save Floyd Hall, notorious northern California killer, from the gallows.

Ray T. Coughlin, Hall's chief counsel, said today he would ask the state supreme court for a rehearing on its decision which affirmed the bandit's conviction and sentence for the murder of H. J. Litzberg, Sacramento merchant. If this fails, then a writ of error will be sought in the U. S. supreme court, Coughlin added.

C. B. Hall, father of the young slayer, is in Sacramento and plans to visit Hall in Folsom prison tomorrow.

COINED WORDS SEEK PLACES IN DICTIONARY

NEW YORK, April 2.—Every day of the year seven or eight new words knock for admission into the dictionary.

Seventeen new words have just been submitted to Dr. Frank H. Vizetelly, managing editor of the New Standard dictionary.

Here they are:

Snik—Something one tries to obtain that one has never seen.

Brummie—Bogus, phony; as a brummie check.

Chaffeuse—A woman who resorts to banter or chaff.

Dinkum—Real, genuine; as dinkum oil.

Dener—Sixpence.

Midinal—The region of a large French city frequented by midinettes.

Sextacles—The awakening of sex appeal.

Sniailf—A new synthetic fiber. Sportascrapana—A book of sport clippings.

Toshra—An anagram minted on Turkish coins consisting of the letters of the name of the Sultan Selim III.

Pitilacker, brutam, swunk, bruton, heilbum, anicus—all submitted in competition for a new name for one who is cruel to animals. ("Pitilacker" was the winning name.)

The newcomers are garnered from many sources—newspapers, books, magazines and technical publications being large contributors.

Dr. Vizetelly estimates that there are from 1,000,000 to 1,250,000 words in the American language today. But at least two-fifths of these are scientific terms and are not to be found in the standard dictionaries.

Experiments show that while the average vocabulary of the man with a limited range is about 3000, the business man or skilled mechanic a limited range is about 8000, and the college graduate about 20,000.

INVENTOR ALMOST GETS BIG FORTUNE

SEATTLE, April 2.—A fortune of $20,000,000 still shimmers in the distance as a dream of the future for George Campbell Carson, 60-year-old metallurgist and inventor, of San Francisco, and the American Smelting company still retains its gold.

The huge sum of money was within Carson's grasp today in Federal Judge Jeremiah Neterer's court, but once again it slipped away as the final phase of his suit for damages to his patent rights was delayed.

When Carson's attorneys from San Francisco John H. Miller and A. W. Borken, appeared before Judge Neterer to obtain final mandate in the case, as ordered by the supreme court, and to list new assignments of trusteeship, Judge George Donworth, attorney for the company, successfully forced the plaintiffs to prove authenticity of their documents.

Miller will have to return to San Francisco and bring back witnesses to appear in a half-day session before Judge Neterer.

Carson invented an ore-feeding device for smelters, which, according to decisions in his suit, has been used by certain copper companies for years without royalty payments.

Static? No! Radio Set Catches Fire

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—"Funny sort of static," thought H. Ginsberg, radio enthusiast, as he heard his set emit strange sputtering sounds during the night. Before he was awakened sufficiently to think to turn it off, the set broke out in flames and the fire department had to be called. Crossed wires did the damage, a fire inspector said.

POLY RUBE DAY PROVIDES FUN FOR TEACHERS AND STUDENTS

Campus Pervaded by Loud Colors As Boys, Girls Parade Freak Costumes

GRAND PRIZE WON BY INSTRUCTORS

Program and April Fools' Day Pranks Combine to Furnish Much Hilarity

Rube day honors at Santa Ana polytechnic high school went to the boys in the awarding of prizes. A fantasy of color pervaded the campus as the students, wearing grotesque costumes, joined in wholesome fun yesterday for a prankish April fool day.

Even some of the faculty members entered into the spirit of the occasion. A trio of teacher rubes, Ernest Crozier Phillips, Miss Evelyn Weeks and Theodore B. Kelly caused storms of laughter and was awarded the grand prize for best prank.

The grand prize was a bouquet of calla lilies.

George Preble, dressed as a rouged flapper, out-girled the girls. He was acclaimed the best costumed "girl" when the students decided the prize winners by popular applause in the morning assembly.

Paul Awarded Prize

Howard Paul, Poly track captain, wasn't on the assembly stage for the rube review but cries were heard for him throughout the auditorium when the judging of the best boy rube was being conducted. So Paul was ushered upon the platform and heralded the prize winner.

Hilarity was unchecked for the day. Some amusing pranks were played, as might be expected on April 1. Ernest Crozier Phillips was one who gratefully accepted a piece of chocolate coated garlic, only to learn too late that he had been made a victim of a trick.

One of the best takeoffs of rube day was the impersonation of Miss Anna Trythal, language teacher, by Vernon Heckart.

Some of the girls relived skating days. They even wore their skates into the classrooms.

The daily school schedule was carried out and no irregularities were reported. It was declared that this year's rube day, in charge of Warren Hamilton, student body president, was the best that has been held at the school in recent years.

Rube Day Program

At the student assembly, a rube day program was presented. The high school band played several

'Y.' PHYSICAL DIRECTORS TO CONVENE HERE

Annual Meeting of State Organization to Be Held In Santa Ana Next Week

Y. M. C. A. physical directors from all parts of California will assemble in Santa Ana next week, for their annual meeting, which is set for April 9, 10 and 11, in the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. building.

According to announcement by Physical Director R. R. Russick, the session will attract 30 or 40 men, leaders in physical education in state Y. M. C. A. work. The program will open at noon on Friday, with a luncheon at the Y. M. C. A. The afternoon program, in addition to commission reports and other business will include an address by C. F. Martin, of the Pasadena city schools, and papers by L. H. Davis, of Oakland; Louis Mellette, Hollywood; J. K. Henderson, San Francisco; A. M. Fish, Long Beach; Gordon Silvey, Pomona, and Robert McLean, Sacramento.

The convention banquet will be held on Friday evening at the Y. M. C. A., with Judge Frank C. Drumm as toastmaster.

On Saturday, the morning session, at 9 o'clock, will be devoted to business. George Hjelte, superintendent of playgrounds in Los Angeles, is scheduled for the principal address, followed by various discussions and reports. The afternoon will be devoted to outdoor recreation. The delegates will be taken to Balboa for sports on the sand and in the water, concluding with a beach dinner served by the Methodist church at Balboa.

A business session will be held Saturday evening at the Y. M. C. A., and a special service will be conducted Sunday morning, at 9:30, closing in time for the men to attend the church services. The convention will end early Sunday afternoon.

While the sessions are of especial interest to physical workers, visitors will be welcome at any of the meetings, it asserted.

UNFIT STUDENT IS TAXPAYERS' BURDEN

A child, physically unfit for school work, constitutes one of the greatest expenses the taxpayers have to support.

This assertion, contained in a recent bulletin received at the county health department from the state board of health, is supported by Dr. V. G. Presson, county health officer, as well as by A. J. Cranston, city superintendent of schools.

The bulletin goes on to say:

"The state is spending millions of dollars upon the education of its children. Every child attending the public schools, who is not physically fit, who has diseased adenoids or tonsils, whose teeth are decayed, whose sight or hearing is defective or who suffers from any other physical defect, is a source of expense to the taxpayer, for he can not derive the benefits that educational facilities provide. Parents of children who will enter school for the first time next September, should, in justice to themselves and other taxpayers, take advantage of the opportunity that is being offered for securing physical examinations of such children. A sick child or a child having physical defects can not be educated properly until he is made well or until his physical defects are corrected."

It was announced that the examination of pre-school children will begin this month.

Bike Race, Kite Contest Will Be Held By Y. Boys

"One Tuesday morning, April 6, from 9:30 a. m. to 12, a bike race will be staged. It is to be a heavy bike race and racing type bikes will not be allowed. There is to be a 3-4 mile race for boys of 13, 14 and 15; a 1-2 mile race for boys of 10, 11 and 12. SCHOOL CALLED DRILL GROUND OF TRAINING IN MORAL CONDUCT

Juvenile Worker of Round Table Declares Home Is Now But Material Shell

CHARACTER FIRST AIM OF EDUCATION

Workman Believes Church Also Is Behind Public Institutes of Learning

Because of changed conditions in our economic and social life today, the public school, more than the home and the church, has become the drill ground for the cultivation of truth, honesty, respect for authority and such other virtues which go to make up for good citizenship, according to Dr. James Workman, chairman of the juvenile committee of the Santa Ana Knights of the Round Table.

For this reason, Dr. Workman believes that the greatest care should be given in the selection of teachers. In addition to possessing necessary credentials and teaching ability, they should be in sympathy with youth and understand its nature.

Jailors Not Wanted

He contends further that under present day conditions, no other major institution has the qualifications and opportunity to administer effectively conduct drill, without which moral instruction is evanescent and futile. Reasoning along this line, he believes further that teachers and not jailers should be in charge of all correctional institutions.

Until a few years ago—or before the advent of apartment houses and chain stores—the American home was the natural and logical institution for administering the moral drill that transmuted instruction into character, he observed. The great majority of homes at that time were economic and industrial units, wherein children and youth had real, responsible duties and tasks.

Water is on application at 60 cents an hour for a head, a head constituting 100 miners inches.

Stockholders are making big demands on the company at this time, all making heavy irrigation of citrus and walnut lands in anticipation of a possible shortage of water during the summer season. It was pointed out that heavy winter irrigations make it possible for the orchards to get by with less water in the summer months.

COLLEGIANS UPHOLD PROHIBITION LAWS

CLAREMONT, April 2.—Prohibition was convincingly upheld and liquor propaganda condemned at an overflow meeting of the Pomona college Y. M. C. A., in Holmes hall, yesterday, when the men of the college voted an overwhelming majority endorsing the eighteenth amendment and urging more strict enforcement. Not a man present voted for its repeal and only three votes were cast for modification.

The topic discussed at the men's meeting was, "Is Prohibition Justifiable?" Facts concerning the way prohibition is handled in British Columbia and Canada were presented by Ralph Boyer, of Ingleside; Ray Beeler, of Pasadena, discussed prohibition in Finland, and James Whyte, of Pomona, talked on prohibition and crime.

The opinion of the Pomona college men was that prohibition in the United States had not been given ample trial and that, in the long run, prohibition is a necessity in this mechanistic age. After the vote was taken, the following general conclusions were drawn up:

The freedom of an individual to drink liquor harms other people; the good of society is more important than the freedom of an individual.

COURT HANDS DOWN IMPORTANT RULING

LOS ANGELES, April 2.—In case of General Accident, Fire and Life Assurance corporation vs. Industrial Accident commission, a decision of importance to employees has just been handed down by the second district court of appeal. Judge Frederick W. House writing the opinion, in which it is held, in substance, that whenever, within the statutory period, a condition of permanent disability, arising from an injury to an employee, is established, the employee becomes entitled to increased compensation notwithstanding the fact that prior thereto such employee has been fully compensated as for a temporary injury.

The decision is far-reaching in its effect, as it permits of a full and complete readjustment of compensation to employees whose claims for injuries, received in the course of their employment, theretofore have been passed upon by the industrial accident commission and which, heretofore, have been considered as closed to further inquiry.

MAY SET DATE FOR SANTA ANA AVIATION MEET

A number of matters of interest to aviation enthusiasts in Santa Ana will be discussed by the members of the Santa Ana Air club at the meeting to be held at 7:30 Monday night in the Finley hotel, 405½ East Fourth street. B. M. Mortland, commodore, said to-day.

Among the subjects to be discussed is the adoption of an emblem for the club. William Croddy, chairman of the emblem committee, has invited art students of the public schools to submit designs for the official insignia of the organization, the student who submits the winning design to be given an airplane ride by Eddie Martin, Santa Ana pilot. Croddy said that designs should be submitted to him before April 19.

The Bingham bill, designed to control civil aviation in the United States, especially that part of it engaged in interstate commerce, will be further discussed and probably indorsed or disapproved.

The proposal to hold an air meet at the South Main street flying field will be gone into very thoroughly, Mortland said, with the possibility that a date will be set.

Arrangements also will be completed at the meeting, Monday night, for the radio program to be given the night of April 13 over station KFON, Long Beach.

The membership of the club, which is the newest organized in the city, is approaching the 100 mark, according to the commodore.

Lloyd Hughes, George K. Arthur and Charles Murray are featured in Miss Moore's support.

VOST THEATER

Unable to obtain sufficient evidence against him, Orange county authorities today released from custody A. G. Rue, 35, Compton man, who was in jail Wednesday on suspicion, in connection with the robbery of the Grace Vall home, Huntington Beach, Tuesday night.

Mrs. Vall was robbed of $250, taken from her stocking, by two bandits, a man and a woman, who later escaped to Los Angeles, after telling a Huntington Beach constable that they had been in an automobile accident.

Rue was arrested in Compton, by Deputy Sheriff Ed McClellan and Chief of Police Tinsley, of Huntington Beach.

With the siren's help he saw the town—so thoroughly that he was soon hotfooting it for home, this time cherishing his father's advice and cussing the coffers.

William Collier, Jr., plays the part of the thief, the country boy, Ernest Torrence is the professed protector and Greta Nissen entices as the beckoning city girl.

Whether you are a willing or an unwilling twentieth century wanderer, or even no wanderer at all, you will be sure to be fascinated by this picture, now showing at the Yost theater. You will be convinced more than ever that the old song is right—"there's no place like home."

Wallace Beery, Tyrone Power and Kathryn Williams complete the featured cast of the production.

Police News

Charged with non-support of a minor, Ignacio Soria, 32, Delhi resident, was arrested last night by Deputy Sheriff Howard. He is in the county jail.

J. Mendis, 33, 1924, West Fourth street, was arrested last night by officers Howard and Fink, on a drunk charge. The man was placed in the county jail and was scheduled to be given a hearing this afternoon before City Recorder J. F. Talbot.

Stage and Screen

William Collier Jr. and Greta Nissen in a scene from the picture, "The Wonderer," current attraction at the Yost theater.

WEST END THEATER

Embellished by the same lifting melody version a great success on the stages of two continents for several successive seasons, "Irene," with the sparkling Colleen Moore in the title role closes at the West End theater soon.

"Alceo Gown" and a dozen other songs that have been whistled and hummed by the thousands who have seen "Irene" on the stage will be heard again when the amplified story of the musical comedy flashes on the screen. Countless other thousands who have not had the opportunity of seeing the footlight version will become acquainted for the first time with the adorable Irene when Miss Moore introduces her new characterization on the screen.

Lloyd Hughes, George K. Arthur and Charles Murray are featured in Miss Moore's support.

WEST COAST-WALKER

"Flaming Waters," a colorful melodrama of the oil fields which is even more stupendous than its name is the photo-dramatization now at the West Coast-Walker theater. It is a vivid and spectacular entertainment that promises to rival its predecessor, "Dracula With a Million" in point of popularity.

The cast is fine, and Malcolm McGregor who plays the role of Danny O'Neill, the young hero who strikes plenty of oil and plenty of trouble in his pursuit of wealth and adventure is particularly worthy of praise. The scenes in which he swims under water with the flaming oil on the surface and rescues his mother and sweetheart from a terrible death are tremendously effective.

The comedy of the social big-bugs, their pretensions and their snobbishness is tinged with a pathos which Director Wright has caught and held with rare understanding.

Heading the five-act vaudeville bill is a one-act play entitled "The Blizzard." It is a dramatic episode of the frozen north, and features the greatest dog-actor on the stage. Others on the bill are Dore Sisters and Ray in a singing and dancing novelty; Lauren and La-Dare in "Wind Jammers;" Perez and La Flor in "Anything for a Thrill;" and George Watts in "At a Dark Town Party."

Call School Drill Training Ground

Thus, the real and important duties of children, involving honesty, truthfulness and respect for authority, have been transferred by what might be termed common consent to the public school, where they constitute the natural field of their moral training. Character ever has been recognized as the first aim of education. Dr. Workman said, and no one would attempt to deny that moral character, not scholarship, is the fundamental attribute of a good citizen.

In "Fine Manners" Miss Swanson has the role of a chorus girl in a burlesque troupe. Of course, every burlesque chorus has to dance. Many of the girls had chorus experience, so the steps came easily to them, but the others had an awful time.

Miss Swanson had been one of the most enthusiastic of the pupils. She learned quicker than most of the others, but she also worked harder.

When she reached home the first night, however, and tried to get out of her car, it wasn't so funny. She had more aches than she imagined existed. A masseuse was called and, after a long session with her, the star was able to get around pretty well.

It was the same story for several days, but Miss Swanson didn't weaken. She found the "strut," the "off to Buffalo" and the "French twist," the hardest of the lot, but in course of time she conquered them.

At no time does the picture lull into any spasms of serious although it might have reached a little higher level if Hans Kraly, the German scenarist, had permitted the players to pause in running the gauntlet of humor long enough to seriously partake for a moment of the love theme that was so cleverly contrived.

Directorial touches, which smack of the von Stroheim and Lubitsch school, punctuate various sequences of the production which was titled by George Marlowe Jr. Ronald Colman, Samuel Goldwyn's wonder boy, is pranced in and out of the scenes as a capable foil on which Norma may play her humor and emotions.

Picturesque street scenes of the theatrical quarter of Paris and lavish drawing-room sets enhance the beauty of the picture immeasurably.

Norma has worked hard to make of "Kiki" an interesting venture and there is no doubt, from a movie standpoint, that she has immortalized the role. Clarence Brown directed.

"Padlocked" is the second Rex Beach story in which Neely Beery has an outstanding role.

One of the performances in which Beery is still remembered is "The Spoilers," in which he played with Milton Sills, taking the role of McNamara, the politician.

In "Padlocked" he has the powerful part of Henry Gilbert, considered one of the outstanding fiction characterizations of the year. Rex Beach's story is appearing in a magazine.

It is a story of strong denunciation of the attempted repression by the narrow-minded members of the older generation. The younger generation, with its ideas of individuality, freedom and accomplishment is glorified.

If you think Charleston steps are easy to acquire, if you do, ask Gloria Swanson how long she practiced them while rehearsing for her coming picture, "Pine Manners," and how many hours she was forced to spend with a masseuse so that she could get to the studio the day after trying these steps. But she knows them now and performs them like

HOWARD LEADS POLICEMEN IN PISTOL SHOOT

F. W. Howard, ace of the Santa Ana police pistol team, yesterday again led his brother officers in the weekly shoot held by officers on their range on Edinger street. Howard's score was 255 out of a possible 300 score.

City Marshal Claude Rogers took second honors in yesterday's shoot, with a score of 230, and Peterson was third, with 225.

No dates have been set for the Santa Ana-Riverside shoot, to be held in that county in the near future.

Many of the usually high scores were down yesterday, including Barnhill and Wolfe, generally among the first five in the practice shoots.

The scores, yesterday, were:

Howard, 255; Rogers, 230; Peterson, 225; Elliott, 217; Holmes, 213; Lentz, 211; Perry, 209; Jaynes, 208; Wolfe, 208; Mohr, 204; Barnhill, 204; Fink, 203.

COULD NOT PUT ON HER SHOES

Mrs. Daugherty Was so Weak

In a little town of the Middle West, was a discouraged woman. For four months she had been in such poor health that she could not stoop to put on her own shoes. Unable to do her work, unable to go out of doors or enjoy a friendly chat with her neighbors, life seemed dark indeed to Mrs. Daugherty.

Then one day, a booklet was left at her front door. Idly she turned the pages. Soon she was reading with quickened interest. The little booklet was filled with letters from women in conditions similar to hers who had found better health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I began taking the Vegetable Compound," Mrs. Daugherty writes, "and after I took the third bottle, I found relief. I am on my eleventh bottle and I don't have that trouble any more, and feel like a different woman. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to everyone I see who has trouble like mine. I am willing to answer any letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound." —Mrs. Ed. DAUGHERTY, 1308 Orchard Ave., Muscatine, Iowa.

Women's Lives

are relieved of a great hygienic handicap in this way. Positive protection—discards like tissue

THERE is now a new way in woman's hygiene. A way scientific and exquisite that ends the uncertainty of old-time "sanitary pads."

It is called "KOTEX." Eight in every 10 better-class women have adopted it.

You wear sheer frocks and gowns without a second thought, any time, anywhere. You meet every day, every business or social demand unhandicapped.

NO LAUNDRY

Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarras-ment. Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads, it banishes danger of mishaps.

Deodorizes, too. And thus ends ALL fear of offending.

You obtain it at drug or department stores simply by saying "KOTEX." Women thus ask for it without hesitancy. Costs only a few cents for a package of 12.

BIBLE SERVICE CONDUCTED BY REV. M. RHODES

The speaker at the noonday Holy week services today was the Rev. Moffett Rhodes, pastor of Spurgeon Memorial Methodist Episcopal church, South. The Knights of The Round Table attended the service as special guests. Today's service was the concluding one of the week. The Rev. Mr. Rhodes spoke upon the topic, "Meditations on the Cross." He characterized the cross as "The summary of the Gospel." He spoke, in part, as follows:

"The incidents of Holy week culminate in the tragic events of Friday. Jesus met fairly the opposition of the authorities to His principles and it was inevitable that He should clash with them and that He should suffer at their hands. He permitted himself no compromise with His spiritual ideals and rather than fail in His unwavering loyalty, He met death upon the cross.

Summary of Gospel

"The cross is the summary of the gospel. What He taught and what He did in kindly ministry are here at the cross actualized and made real for men. He was ready to suffer for His ideals. It was not in His thought to call upon men to obey His teachings and follow him in lives of service without Himself being subject to the same law of sacrifice. So all that is beautiful and helpful in the teachings and life of Jesus is gathered up and made livable for men here at the cross.

"The cross is the consummation of the vicarious life of Jesus. His death was the outcome of His ideas of service. He might have saved Himself by an appeal to popular excitement, or even by miraculous power, but it would have meant His surrender of the very ideals, which He was attempting to lead men to make supreme. This principle runs through all of life—the highest good is obtained only by the sacrifice of the lower. So Jesus' death was the culmination of His vicarious life—He died for the sake of the world and His mission as the Christ.

Emblem Loving Service

"The cross is the emblem of loving service and admits of no compromise with selfishness. Men have been much more ready to thank Jesus for taking up His cross than for His advice to take up their own crosses. It is only now beginning to be seen how revolutionary was this teaching of Jesus, how impossible is reliance upon force or even efforts at reprisal. Men are now seeing that Jesus meant that the only life worth living is the life of loving service.

"The cross represents the highest spiritual power of Jesus freely given for us and by this power we are saved. So this is what we mean when we say 'We are saved by the blood of Christ.' The cross shows the ugliness and the deadliness of moral evil, and to what lengths sacrificial love will go. These are some of the things which are meant by that tragic incident on Calvary on Friday of Holy week, and it is to that cross that men look for hope and help."

A dozen houses have been prepared here for the reincarnated Christ and his disciples, and this is to be the capital of the order. A large library and an administration building are already completed.

The site on which the capital is being built was purchased several years ago, when the young student was being tutored here in a religious and cultural education, under direction of Mrs. Besant.

According to members of the sect here, Krishnamurti's presentation to the world as the long-promised reincarnated Christ was originally set for 1929, but was hastened because of the "immediate dangers of further terrible wars among the nations of the earth."

Announcement that the Indian student would be formally presented as the new Messiah, has divided theosophical circles into two bitterly opposing ranks.

One of the groups will not accept Krishnamurti without an extensive consideration of his qualities.

Despite opposition, Ojai is preparing for his coming, and looks forward to the construction of additional residences and administrative buildings at a cost of $200,000.

The capital is situated in a beautiful valley, and was selected because of its idyllic natural surroundings.

Miss Virginia Slabaugh, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. F. W. NEW 'MESSIAH' GOLD SEEKERS TO ARRIVE AT OJAI THIS FALL

OJAI, Calif., April 2—Arrival of J. Krishnamurti, the new "Messiah" of the International Theosophical society is expected here late in September, members of th order announced today.

Krishnamurti, 21-year-old student-philosopher of East India, is understood to be on his way to London with a party of leading theosophists including Mrs. Annie Besant, president of the sect, and 12 disciples. He will arrive in America by August, in time for his presentation at the theosophist convention in Chicago, next September.

Old Folks Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

DR. W. B. CALDWELL
AT THE AGE OF 83

Most men and women past fifty must give to the bowels some occasional help else they suffer from constipation. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect a gentle aid to weak bowels.

Is your present laxative, in whatever form, promoting natural bowel "regularity"—or must you purge and "physic" every day or two to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, colds, or sour, gassy stomach?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepin helps to establish natural, regular bowel movement even for those chronically constipated.

THREE PROBES OF CINDERELLA CASE STARTED

NEW YORK, April 2—Edward W. Browning's latest experience as a "daddy" has precipitated at least three official or semi-official investigations and the returns are as yet incomplete.

Authorities at the high school, where 15-year-old Frances Heenan is enrolled, appear somewhat anxious to find out why the girl has not attended classes since last fall. It is probable that, as soon as Frances has recovered from the acid burns on her face, inflicted last Saturday by some person unknown, she will be called upon to explain why she played "hooky."

Then, too, the police are interested in the acid throwing, which occurred while Frances was asleep. Detectives are inclined to the jealousy theory, but admit that thus far they have been unable to find trace of anyone who, out of spite, might have attempted to mar the girl's beauty because of her friendship with the 57-year-old real estate operator. A third investigation is in the hands of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, which is interested in the motives behind Browning's interest in Frances.

Vincent Pisarra, secretary of the society, intends to inquire into the high school sorority of Phi Lambda Tau, of which Browning was a patron and Miss Heenan a member. Other developments of the newest "Cinderella" attachment of Browning follow:

It was learned that Browning had taken the girl to a birthday party for Benlanimo Gigli, metropolitan opera tenor, on March 20, and had taken her home alone.

William Heenan, the girl's father, an automobile salesman, told newspapermen if Browning intended to marry Frances there would be no parental objection.

Mary Louise Spas, Frances' predecessor in the realtor's attentions, said she was going to bring "some kind of suit" against the man who once adopted her and gave her costly presents until he found that she was 21 years old, and her lawyer verified the announcement.

EASTER MILLINERY
Special Display of Easter Hats tomorrow. Many special values. O'Donnell Millinery, 401 West Fourth St.

MOJAVE, Calif., April 2.—The "gold rush" to Kramer was assuming "serious" proportions today, with the steadily increasing influx of amateur prospectors.

The main problem was lack of water, for both drinking and fishing. Supplies are scarce, and it is 10 miles to water, over a rough road. It is blazing hot, and until a real camp has been established, the prospectors are compelled to depart before they have a chance to work their claims.

One prospector who brought his fishing tackle flattered away, disgruntled. "No water to drink, and nothing to fish in," he complained. "Thought I was going to have a real vacation."

FIREARMS FOR PROTECTION
Many of the late arrivals, informed by published rumors that a battle was brewing in the Kramer section over staked-out claims, brought their rifles and revolvers, as well as bread knives and safety razors.

This lent an air of real adventure to the modern gold rush, comparable to the tales of '49, handed down by the California pioneers.

Some of the gold seekers brought police dogs to help guard their claims.

A temporary camp has been established, and supplies are beginning to arrive. Profiteering is already in evidence, water and food selling at prices that would startle even roadhouse proprietors.

COMMERCIAL ASPECT
Within the next two weeks, the "gold rush" will be completely commercialized, it was predicted by foreseeing business men on the scene.

Leases have been taken out for lunch rooms and soda stands. Stage lines are getting under way, and it was rumored a Bakersfield concern would operate an air line to the mining district.

A group of Los Angeles realtors was seeking a corner on a section of land which they plan to cut up into lots for sale to middle west tourists, who are being diverted away from Hollywood and other tourist attractions to the desert.

MUSSOLINI ENJOYS RIDE

"Il Duce" Mussolini goes for a morning ride in the Villa Umberto, Rome's big public park, before going about his day's dictating.

TWO POLICEMEN AND FIREMAN IN ANAHEIM RESIGN

Sunday morning, the penitentes, to the throbs of tom toms and eerie wail of reed flutes, will go through the flagellations which mark their annual half-pagan, half-Christian ceremonies preceding Easter. The mystic ceremonials date back to the almost forgotten past of Monkish orders that came into the southwest with the Spanish conquistadors and are mixed with the far older nature myth of the forefathers of the Indians.

Tonight the climax of the ceremonials will be reached when an effigy will be crucified. Before the laws of the white man made it impossible, a human died yearly on the cross. Until the "Crucifixion," the members of the cult will go through self-devised tortures as they make pilgrimages from one moranda to another.

Curious crowds are flocking to the scene of the ceremonials in the hope of catching glimpses of the carefully guarded rites.

CO-EDS ORGANIZE NO ESCORT LEAGUE

BERKELEY, April 2.—Feminine freedom—that's what these individualistic co-eds want.

On the rolls beneath the names of Carrie Chapman Catt and Emmeline Pankhurst will be inscribed the names of Geraldine Casad, Katherine Nixon, Gertrude Wright and Helen Phillips.

They are University of California students who have solved the "man problem" by declaring independence to it. They are leaders of the Gamma Epsilon Pi and Phi Chi Theta societies whose membership embraces some of the university's most prominent and popular co-eds.

Rebellious at the very idea of sitting around waiting for patronizing men to invite them to dances and parties, they have inaugurated a "no escort league." The girls have taken solemn pledges that they will attend college functions unencumbered by any masculine guidance.

After the female minds of the campus have been educated to the idea so that it will be more or less generally accepted as a matter of course, these original thinkers will make the revolutionary proposal that the ladies alone do the bidding, inviting such men as they please to escort them.

That is—they will if their first declaration of independence "takes."

The letter of Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, to Chairman O'Connor, of the shipping board, attacking the terms of the board's proposed sale and condemning the expected transfer of the powerful Pacific liners to the Dollar interests, has been received and taken under advisement but it will not be considered by the board until the recess of selling is over.

President E. E. Crowley, of the Emergency Fleet corporation, will make recommendations for action to the board after the bids are opened next Tuesday and not until these recommendations are made will the Jones letter be brought before the full board for possible action in connection with the proposed sale.

Representatives of the Dollar line are in Washington prepared to submit a bid on the line under the terms of the board's advertisement. The Dollar company was the only bidder on the second advertisement, but the board rejected the offer.

LAW KEEPS CAT WAITING 3 WEEKS FOR HIS DINNER

OMAHA, April 2.—A gaunt cat had his first real meal in three weeks when a deputy marshal untied a knot of governmental red tape that three branches of the law could not untangle. Made a prisoner three weeks ago when the soft drink saloon of which he was the official ratter was padlocked, the feline had worked up an extensive appetite.

An ex-patron noticed the cat perched in the window and telephoned the humans society. Humane officers were balked by the injunction notice. Prohibition agents explained they, too, were enjoined from entering. So were the police.

The action was based upon an accident at Center and Helena streets, Anaheim, where Mr. Spencer was run down and injured by an automobile driven by Mrs. Keef. The jury's verdict was directed against Mrs. Keef only.

Attorneys P. J. Youngdahl, Los Angeles, and Z. B. West Jr., Santa Ana, represented the Spencers in the case. Leonard Evans, of Anaheim, was attorney for the defense.

Huntington, L. I., N. Y., Dec. 20:

"I want to tell you what your Resinol Ointment has done for me. Some time ago, I had a red, scaly rash between my fingers that came from using too much harsh soap and soap powder. It itched badly, especially at night. I am a housekeeper and every time I had to put my hands in water the pain was intense. One evening I read a Resinol advertisement in the paper and decided to buy a jar. I did and after I had used it for about two months, my trouble was completely cured. (Signed) Mrs. Ward Chapman, R. F. D. No. 1, c/o G. James.

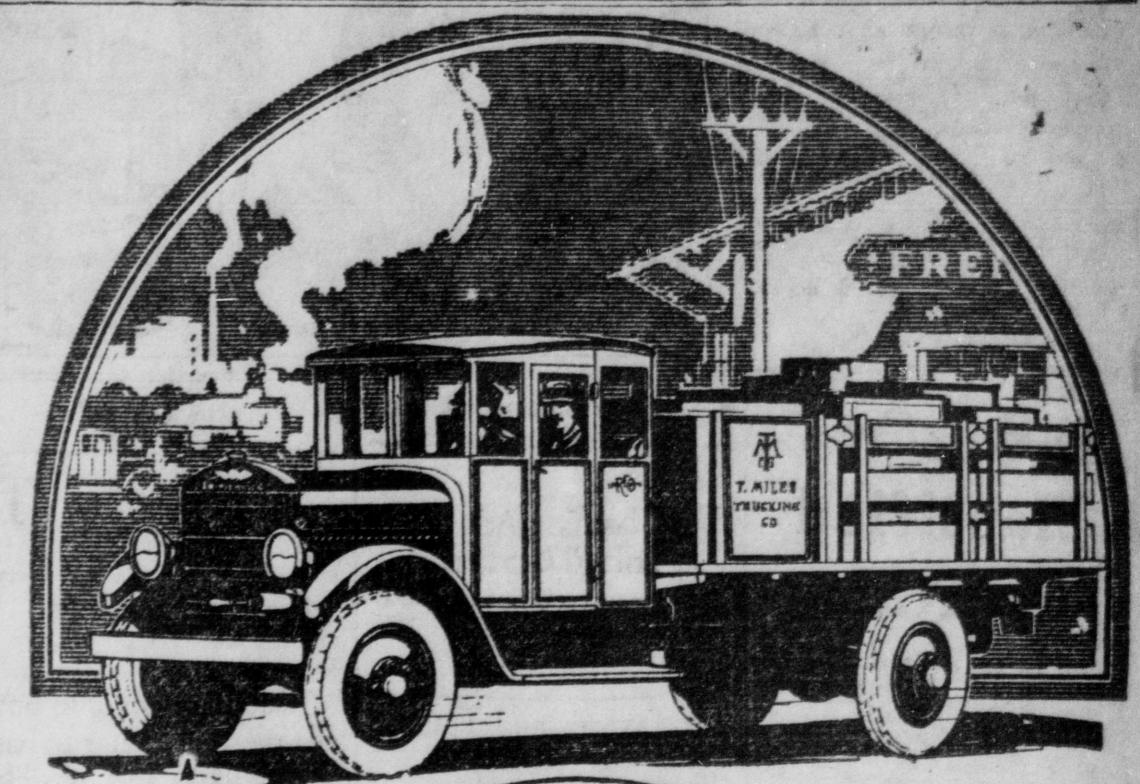

Police News

"Speeders' day" in Justice Kenneth Morrisson's court today was one of the quietest in the last several months. Only four alleged violators appeared and none of the four were sentenced to jail. Charged with speeding 45 miles an hour in 35-mile zones, L. A. Brown, Pasadena, and W. S. Shepard, Los Angeles, each were fined $25. On a similar charge, Bennie Ignatz, Los Angeles, was fined $20. Charged with speeding 43 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone, W. F. Davis, Long Beach, was fined $10.

THANKS

For the BUGGY RIDE

But I am going to buy one of those Used Cars from Ray Schanhals. Everybody tells me that that guy has got a bunch what some folks calls used cars, that sure enough looks and runs like "new cars." They say they are all redecorated with that new kind of paint that the fog, rain and sun won't ruin, "Ducos." My old buggy needs new tires right now, but one fellow told me that "Schanhals Used Cars" all have new tires on them, that means no more tire expense for another whole year, and I know a fellow that says that he knows that every one of those cars have been all overhauled and just run almost like a new car, and that they all have new roofs over them, and spare tires, and lots of other extras, too.

Everybody has been telling me all about these re-newed cars, and I am going down and see them. So good bye, old gray mare and buggy.

Yes, folks, the old gentleman has heard the right dope. Come in and see this bunch of used cars and you will get the surprise of your life. We have 40 late models and standard makes to choose from. Here are a few—see them and the others, too:

NO REVOLT ON LANDIS' RESIN RULE EXPECTED

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, April 2.—No open revolt is expected against the ruling of Commissioner Landis that any pitcher in any league which is a party to the national agreement can use resin on his hands.

The American league, which was the first to turn down the amendment of the rules committee permitting the use of resin by the pitcher under the supervision of the umpire, has three courses open.

The club owners in Ban Johnson's circuit have the option of meeting again and accepting the amendment or keeping silent, or of making a direct issue with the commissioner.

From conversations with baseball people here, the opinion was gathered that the less militant club owners will allow the controversy to expire by default unless the commissioner should insist that the magnates meet and officially rescind their objection. As was pointed out some time ago, the American league can get around the recognition of the rule by private means which would permit them to argue that their pitchers did not want to use resin.

American league men feel there is nothing in the rule to require the umpires to carry the little mesh bag to the pitcher box and if the pitchers do not ask for it there is nothing to do about it.

The talk that the controversy may be a serious issue in the world's series and perhaps cause the fall classic to be called off is silly. The American league pennant winners will not cast a pile of money away just to help their league win a moral victory.

national races to take place in Canada, eastern speed boat drivers are anxious to mix again with the local champion.

The idea of the association officials is to bring the eastern boats here aboard freighters through the Panama canal and after racing at Alamitos bay proceed to Honolulu for another clash. After that they will return to Southern California and race again at Newport. The national meet is being boosted by the Marine Trades association of Southern California and other organizations interested in making the Southwest coast a national yachting and boating center.

TIJUANA HORSEMEN THINK CARLARIS MAY TAKE KENTUCKY DERBY IN RECORD TIME

SAN DIEGO, April 2.—Tijuana horsemen are betting their last shirt that Carlaris will win the Kentucky Derby in May. The English bred colt is still the center of all talk wherever turf fans meet.

In winning the Coffroth Handicap Sunday from the cream of the American turf by eight lengths pulled up, Carlaris shattered every Tijuana track record, tied the American half-mile mark and came within a shade of equalling four others.

Veteran turfmen here are firm in their belief that if Carlaris had been hard pressed he would have shattered the world record of 2:00 flat made by Whiskbroom II at Belmont Park for the mile and quarter.

If Carlaris keeps his present form, Pompey, Canter, Bubbling Over, Haste and Baggenbaggie, popular three-years-olds, will have a time catching him.

No three-year-old ever won the Kentucky Derby in the time made by Carlaris in winning the Coffroth, which is the same distance. Carlaris ran a mile and a quarter in 2:02 3-5, pulled up in the last eighth of a mile.

Old Rosebud in 1914 made the best time ever run by a horse in the Kentucky Derby, that of 2:03 2-5.

that you are right and then you can shout your head off."

Sisler had two disturbers on his ball club in recent years and he feels sure that he will have perfect harmony this year because the two players have gone. There was gossip heard around the American league camps that there was still discord in the Brown camp but it wasn't evident to casual observation and there was no indication of it in conversation with a good number of the players.

"When ever you go into an argument with an umpire, especially on balls and strikes or a close one at one of the bases, you are wrong because it is a question of judgment with the umpire and no interpretation of the rules is necessary."

"Every time you lose an argument with an umpire before the team and a crowd in the stands you are losing the respect of the players and the fans. When you want to argue with an umpire be sure

John B. Miller, president of the Southern California Edison company, who was scheduled to appear today in justice court at Seal Beach, to answer to a charge of speeding 55 miles an hour, has been given a continuance until April 16, according to Justice William Morrison.

Morrison stated that Miller's case had been postponed to the future date several days ago. Capt. Henry S. Warner, of the state police, said that the man was to have appeared today.

Miller was given a continuance on the grounds that he was not in the state at the present time, Morrison said.

SAN BERNARDINO.—San Bernardino's highest building total for any March in history was recorded Wednesday as another evidence of the city's prosperity. A total of $300,922 was announced by Building Inspector H. G. Hansen. Building kept pace with postal receipts and bank clearings, which also reflected healthy gains over March of 1925. The increase in postal receipts was announced by Postmaster Sherman Bachelor as $1,220,332, the largest jump in more than six months. Bank clearings for the month were more than a million dollars above the previous March total. The city's building total completed is more than $25,000 better than that of any previous March, Mr. Hansen's records revealed. The highest March in past years was in 1922, when building mounted to $275,715. March of last year is credited with a total of $237,081.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—President Coolidge has held up a recommendation of the tariff commission for lower duties on linseed oil since March, 1925, the Senate investigating committee revealed in making public the commission's report.

A majority of the committee, after investigation, recommended to the president that the tariff on linseed oil be reduced from 3.2 cents per pound to 2.75 cents to equalize the cost of production between this country and the principal competing country.

It will be impossible even to force consideration of a reduction in the woolen tariff schedule as long as Thomas O. Marvin is head of the tariff commission. A. P. Dennis, vice chairman, told the committee.

Dennis charged that two months before Marvin was appointed as a Republican to the commission, he appeared before the house ways and means committee in favor of higher duties on wool.

The textile division of the commission had made three recommendations at different times for investigation of high rates on woolen fabric.

"It was contended that foreign woolens could be obtained only by the wealthy," Dennis said.

These recommendations were ignored by the commission, he contended.

Every American
Eats Own Weight
Of Meat In Year

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Americans are not vegetarians, generally speaking. The per capita consumption of meat last year was 154.3 pounds.

People are eating more veal and less pork, according to the Agriculture Department. Consumption of mutton and lamb, which is relatively low in the United States has remained about stationary for the last five years.

Beef consumption reached the highest point on record in 1925 with a production of more than 7,145,000,000 pounds. Pork produced totalled 9,210,000,000 pounds a decrease of nearly 1,000,000,000 pounds compared with 1924.

The per capita consumption of lamb last year was 13.4 pounds.

Marries Peasant
To Preserve Land

MOSCOW, April 2.—A curious case of a well-to-do woman marrying a village shepherd, not for sentiment, but for more practical reasons, has occurred near Leningrad. Miss Urgens, daughter of a wealthy landowner, had somehow kept her ancestral estate throughout the storms of the revolution. She was menaced, however, by the application of a new Soviet decree, ordering the expulsion of those members of the former landed gentry who still remain in their old country mansions.

Under these circumstances, she wedded and won the village shepherd, evidently with the intention of posing as the bride of a "poor peasant" and thereby escaping the execution of the eviction order. However, the peasants in the neighboring village, who wanted her land, promptly exposed the trick.

Under the Soviet marriage laws, Miss Urgens found a means of relief which is sometimes denied to disappointed fortune-hunters in other countries; her marriage with the shepherd was promptly annulled at her own request.

Becomes Artist
After Bike Fall

CHICAGO, April 2.—When Hugh Poe was 10 years old he fell off his bicycle and his parents gave him a set of water colors with which to amuse himself while he went through the period of recuperation.

Today Poe finds himself crowned the most promising young artist of the country. He was awarded the prize of $200 for the best work of art exhibited by a man under 24 at the Marshall Field and company galleries.

Poe is a native of Dallas, Tex., but most of his life has been spent in Knoxville, Tenn. Seven years ago he went to Indianapolis to study at the John Herron Art Institute.

Most of Poe's note is derived from portraiture and he shortly will undertake an oil portrait of Governor Jackson, of Indiana.

Interesting News of the Day Told In Pictures

"Fun? Oh my yes, and education too," said Wellesley college girls after an orgy of New York stock market gambling, in which each girl started with $25,000. Miss Georgia Hodges, left, was the heaviest loser. She dropped $800. And Miss Mary Neal, right, topped the winners, with $3000. But it was all "make believe money."

"The start was easy, and it was a cinch to stop," Paul Rockhold, Brooklyn iron worker, said when he woke up in Reconstruction hospital four days after falling 12 stories from a girder on a new building. "I remember starting, but I don't remember hitting the ground. It took a long time to fall, and I could count some of the floors as I went past. This stuff about living over all your past life at such a time is the bunk, though, as far as I'm concerned. About all I remember was wondering what my pieces would look like when they picked me up." Rockhold's tumble netted him a broken arm and 10 fractures in the bones of his right leg.

"Teddy" faces a murder charge in a Philadelphia court. He shook a six-month-old kitten to death, 'tis charged. "Exhume the kitten's body, and let's see about this," ordered the judge.

Wrecking of the famous U. S. liner America by fire at Newport News, Va., is graphically pictured here. A German-built vessel seized by the U. S. during the war, the America was one of the largest passenger ships plying the Atlantic. In 1918 she transported thousands of U. S. soldiers to France. Dr. A. C. Parker, pastor of Rosemont Christian church, at Dallas, Tex., is under indictment charged with engineering a stock fraud that cost many people their fortunes and wiped out his own estate of $1,000,000. His church refused to accept the resignation he offered and voted complete confidence in him.

Miss Lorraine Schlichter, Portsmouth, O., school teacher, has won a $70,000 breach of promise verdict against John F. Taylor, wealthy automobile dealer. She testified in court that she massaged Taylor's head with olive oil and made silk shirts for him.

Raymond Farrell was blind. So his brother, Norman "Reds" Farrell, 28, shot him as he lay asleep in their home at Allentown, Pa. "I have done nothing wrong," Norman told officers who arrested him. "Why should I support a blind man as well as my mother and father?" He seemed unconcerned. But sorrow gripped the heart of his mother, pictured above.

Officers of the lodge declare a number of applications for membership have been received and that indications are that 1926 will be one of the best in years in the long history of the fraternal order. According to Edward W. Cochems, member of the board of trustees, progress is being made on plans for the construction of a lodge home, although no definite announcement can be made at this time.

The lodge meets every Wednesday evening at the Modern Woodmen of America hall, on East Fourth street. Visiting knights are always welcome to attend.

World's Supply of Tin Is Dwindling

LONDON, April 2.—Lord Asquith presiding at the annual meeting of a tin company, called attention to the gradual disappearance of the world's supply of that humble metal and the imperative necessity for the discovery of a satisfactory substitute.

Thus far no substitute had been found which could do so admirably the things which tin had always done for mankind.

"Less than three years ago," said Lord Asquith, "the world boasted a surplus stock of 40,000 tons; today it is less than 18,000 tons and this country, which is the tin market of the world, has less than 2000 tons on hand for sale."

"The day is coming when old abandoned tin mines will have to be started up for the working out of the low grade alluvium, and vein deposits which we have hitherto scorned."

World production of tin ore in 1913 was 133,354 long tons and it fetched then 201 pounds 14 shillings—roughly $1007 per ton. Now the price, despite a speeding up of production owing to increased demand has soared to $1800 a ton.

KNIGHTS WILL HOLD SERVICE IN ROSE BOWL

Southern California, Mme. Alma Reil, Mexican prima donna, will sing and a chorus of several hundred voices will be led by Robert E. Clark. Bands from Los Angeles, Long Beach, Hollywood and Pasadena commanderies will play.

The south end of the bowl has been converted into a replica of an old mission and mission garden wall for the occasion. The effect of the ringing of the mission bells will be produced by the playing of the chimes of the Pasadena Presbyterian church, the sound of which will be conveyed to the stadium and reproduced there over the "public address system."

The exercises will open with a procession of the knights into the Rose bowl, at Pasadena, Sunday afternoon.

Approximately 5000 knights from 22 commanderies, will attend.

The services, which will commence at 2:45 o'clock, will be open to the public.

The exercises will open with a procession of the knights into the Rose bowl. Bands playing "Onward Christian Soldiers" will lead the parade, followed by 25 horsemen dressed in the regalia of the early Crusaders, their horses caparisoned in the trappings of that period. The knights will seat themselves in the bowl to form a huge passion cross.

The main address will be given by Dr. Rufus B. von KleinSmid, president of the University of

NO CALIFORNIA AVENUE EXISTS IN WASHINGTON

By C. B. DODDS
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 2.—California is the only state in the Union without an avenue in the District of Columbia which bears its name.

The other 47 states and even a territory, Alaska, are honored by converging avenues named for them, even though some of the avenues are thoroughfares in name only, several of them not yet paved and without any home development fronting on them.

There is a California street, running from Eighteenth street to Massachusetts avenue, above Twenty-fourth, but no California avenue is shown in street maps of the district, according to officials of the district surveyor's office. California street was once California avenue, but was changed many years ago at the request of the district commissioners.

The highway plan of the district shows a Government alley, a Washington street and even a Temperance alley.

Little Nevada was berated and defended on the floor of the senate while the war department appropriation bill was being considered. The matter came up when Senator Pittman called attention to an article written by Senator Wadsworth, of New York, which was published in the Nation's Business for March, in which he opposed the "50-50" federal road aid legislation.

Senator Wadsworth said in his article that the state of Nevada pays into the federal treasury $760,000 annually and receives in subsidies $1,845,000.

In defense of his state, Senator Pittman said:

"Nearly all of the money received by the state of Nevada from the federal treasury is for two purposes, namely for reclamation or for road building. Let us consider first the money that is received for the purpose of road-building. Eighty-seven and one-half per cent of the lands in my state over which roads are built are public lands, owned by the government of the United States, and 12½ per cent are lands owned by individuals. I do not think anyone is sufficiently unfair to state that the state should be required to build roads on government land."

This brought Senator Smoot, of Utah, to his aid, who added:

"I think it is well to state at this time that, if the government will give the western states all of the public lands within the borders of the states, we will build our roads and we will attend to the management of all our affairs and ask nothing of the government."

The new lighthouse at Point Vincente, California, near the approach to Los Angeles Harbor, will go into commission shortly, according to announcement of the bureau of lighthouses department of commerce.

Employing equipment of the most modern type, it will show a group of two white flashes every 20 seconds of 800,000 candlepower, from a light mounted 185 feet above the sea, and which will be visible for a distance of 20 nautical miles in clear weather.

In foggy weather, the light will be supplemented by a powerful compressed air fog signal, sounding a double blast every minute.

This new aid to navigation will mark a prominent headland off Los Angeles, and has been long desired by shipping interests. Its establishment was delayed for several years because of difficulties encountered in obtaining the necessary, suitable site for the structure.

If the navy decides to build one of the three new cruisers provided for in the pending navy bill at a navy yard, letting private contracts for the other two, it is believed that the Mare Island yard has an excellent chance of getting this work. The yard has been instructed by the department in making preparation to build the new submarine V6, to leave room for one of the new cruisers.

It probably will be six months before a decision will be made as to these three vessels, but at the end of that time bids are expected to be advertised for.

The navy department policy in building war vessels in navy yards was explained by naval officers as follows:

"We like to keep our various navy yards busy up to a certain standard of work, so that we will at all times have trained personnel ready for an emergency. Beyond that point, we do not care to go, as we appreciate the obligation we owe the private ship builders upon whom we must also depend in time of war."

In the two cruisers now building it was decided to build one at a navy yard and one by private contract. I do not know what policy will be followed in the case of the three vessels authorized in the pending navy appropriation bill.

Although the theory that wind is the chief carrier of Douglas fir seed has been generally accepted, it was not known until recently how extensively this seed would be scattered under normal conditions until an experiment was conducted by the forest service.

With the aid of a box kite a bag of seed was raised to about the height of a mature Douglas fir tree and then released to drift with the wind. Canvas sheets were spread at different distances from the point of release to catch the seed for more than a quarter of a mile to leeward. At the time of the experiment the wind was blowing with a velocity of only eight miles an hour.

The experiment showed that most of the seed dropped on the canvas 1100 feet from the kite. This canvas collected 302 seed, or at the maximum rate of 80,000 seed to the acre. Some seed traveled a considerable distance beyond that point.

A statement by the forest service said:

"It was not intended that this test should reproduce natural dis-

LEGION'S AIM ARE EXPLAINED BY STATE CHIEF

ORANGE, April 2.—American Legion and auxiliary members and friends listened to an address last night in Legion hall by State Legion Commander Allan Bixby and a short talk by Mrs. F. L. Chapline, state president of the Legion auxiliary.

Following a dinner given by Mrs. Chapline to about 20 of the local Legion members, the crowd of approximately 250 gathered at 8 o'clock. A short musical program preceded the talks.

Bixby outlined the work of the American Legion and asked for the co-operation of members and non-members alike in furthering the unselfish program of the Legion. In this connection Bixby remarked, "We've got a disease called Legionitis and I want you to get it."

Some of the more pertinent remarks featuring Bixby's talk are as follows:

"The spirit of the American Legion is the spirit of service to America."

"The Legion does not intend or desire to parallel the work of other civic organizations, but to supplement it."

"We are not attempting to establish orphan asylums, as many believe. A child welfare billet such as we desire to create is but a temporary home for children in emergencies."

According to Bixby, at the time of the convening of the last congress, there had been 224 bits of legislation passed, directly through the efforts of the Legion.

Joe Plank, chef de gar of the 40 and 8, was present to announce the participation of his organization in the Boy Scout Jamboree, to be held in Santa Ana, April 9.

Commander Clyde Slater recited the preamble to the national American Legion constitution.

The meeting was opened by a flag salute and the singing by the audience of "My Country 'Tis of Thee."

Those participating in the program are as follows: Program chairman, George Peterkin; vocal soloist, Miss Vera Hively; whistling soloist, Miss Josephine Durgin, accompanied by Mrs. D. Ditchey at the piano; banjo soloist, Joe Kuzina; instrumental trio, Mrs. Will Martin, violin, Miss Marjorie Caldwell, piano, F. Enrich, flute.

Individuals are assisted in various ways. Hospitals for disabled veterans and homes for orphans are being maintained by both the state and national Legion organizations, according to Bixby. Several local Legion members were guests at the banquet. W. O. Hart presided at the meeting.

The WOMAN'S DAY by Allene Summer

"I See by the Papers"

"The life of the party" is what they called Mrs. Ida Goldberg, 105, who celebrated her birthday recently at an old folks' home. The lady who had seen 105 winters and summers come and go, "held her own" in the conversation, as are told. A life well spent, we opine—when one at 105 can still have enough of the rest for living to be "the life of the party."

Club life will soon supplant home life, and even the state may assume the care of children, says an Ohio judge, pointing with alarm at working wives "outside the home."

All right, all right, have it your own way—but please, please PLEASE tell me how the home is to be bettered and children raised any better with only a working father bringing in about $125 a month when children's shoes cost $5 and rent $50. If working wives are wrecking the home, somebody best stir themselves about a whack at the H. C. of L. or bigger salaries for husbands and fathers.

Making Money

"She serves just like a horse and buggy," a friend commented on the waitress sent out by an agency. Waitresses, good ones, employment agencies will tell you, are as rare as diamonds in oysters. But it is not necessarily true that waitresses are born and not made.

A clever high school girl could earn her clothes and books and start saving away a nest egg for the college fund by acting as waitress on special occasions.

In preparation for this job, I suggest the purchase of a book called "The Up-To-Date Waitress," by Janet McKenzie Hill. Careful perusal, a white apron and cap, and you're all set for the job!

Formal Luncheon Menu

The formal luncheon menu is almost the formal breakfast, too. The following menu could be used for a wedding breakfast with slight variations, such as the addition of the wedding cake.

Grape Fruit Supreme (with cherry)

Bouillon

Panned Oysters

Brown Bread Sandwiches, very thin

Chicken Timbales, mushroom sauce

French Fried Potatoes

Lettuce Salad, French Dressing

Buttered Rolls

Sherbet Assorted Cakes

Bonbons Coffee

Right Thing to Wear

Formal evening dress, with no sleeves, and little front or back, is worn only to a formal dinner, opera, ball, or formal reception. A hat is never worn with formal dress. A hair dress, a jeweled comb, or half bandeau should accompany formal dress. Long kid gloves are correct with the evening dress, but it is not incorrect not to wear them. The gloves should be removed when inside, not turned back. Full evening dress is not particularly suited to the theater, unless following a formal dinner and theater invitation.

Believe It?

"All food should be beautiful—else it savors of the animal. Plain bread and butter becomes an aesthetic delight when properly cut, properly served, artistically garnished."—MacDougall.

Your House

Folks have "gone plain daffy" over "period houses" today just as they thrill to "period furniture." Early American leads in the latter, and the Spanish seems to lead in the former. In planning your home, however, remember this! A city lot is no place for a stately southern colonial home with pillars. A bungalow is all wrong in the middle of a five-acre lot. Cape Cod is no place for Spanish patios, and a New England cottage would look as forlorn in Hollywood as a New England spinster.

What to Read

If you want fiction, try Brand Whitlock's "Uprooted." One chapter takes the hero and heroine to the tennis tournaments at Nice and Cannes. The author says of Suzanne Lenglen—

"Someone held for her a great white cloak and, muffled in it, she moved slowly across the court, with the shining aureole of success that is worn by public characters, perhaps as much an attribute of the applause on which they thrive, as of the achievement that provokes it."

"My Beauty Beliefs

By Thrya Samter Winslow
Author of "Picture Frames" and "The Show Business"

Once upon a time a show man told me that a woman's secret of real beauty was to stress her one good feature and forget all the others.

My eyes, for instance, happen to be less homely than any other part of me. They are big, but awfully light. I wanted to bring out my best feature, so I constantly use mascara on them; a light brush over the lids, and a medium blending on the lashes.

Hair can be kept glossy and silky by rubbing warm olive oil into the scalp about an hour before the shampoo. And I believe in frequent shampoos. I do mine twice a week. Rub dry with heavy towel until the scalp glows.

IN SPITE OF THE CYNIC

The scoffers for years have been at it, And the cynics for ages have sneered, Had there been any truth in their wisdom, Had their jibes been as honest as smart, The clever and smart have all thought it was "art" To belittle what others revered; But still this old world goes on plodding along With the old-fashioned virtues still sturdy and strong.

They've been at it for ages and ages With philosophies vicious and base, But the stuff that they teach, and the stuff that they preach Doesn't comfort or hearten the race, And the old world continues to jog right along With its old-fashioned notions of right and of wrong.

Fellowship of Prayer

Daily Lenten Bible reading and meditation prepared for Commission on Evangelism of Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

FRIDAY

The Crucifixion

Read John 19:15-30. Text: 19:30.

It is finished.

Meditation—Truly this was a good man, sighed a thoughtful pagan bystander. Jesus was crucified for his goodness. They hated him not for any evil he had done, no man could convict him of sin, they killed him because his accusing goodness was a constant and inescapable indictment. The captain of our Salvation was made perfect as the Saviour of the world by unmerited suffering. Suffering deserved by the doer of evil he endured because he was the supreme doer of good.

The Crucifixion was indeed the outstanding fact of Christian history. From the beginning when John the Baptist points his disciples to "The Lamb of God," this story looks forward to the cross.

The last of the words on the cross in John's Gospel is this:

"It is finished," a word not of defeat

but of triumph, a completion of this prophecy of the saying at the Last Supper. "I have finished the work which Thou gavest me to do."

Prayer—Standing, O our God, before the face of Christ so glorious beneath His cross so strange. We cannot rest content with what we are. May Christ be born within us, and rise from the tomb of our dead selves, glorious and triumphant. Amen.

BEAUTY CHATS

by EDNA KENT FORBES

DAINTY TOUCHES

Every well-dressed woman will from digestive sluggishness and not from too frequent shampoos. It is possible that this accounts for your face being too stout, even if you are otherwise too stout. Clear up your digestion and improve your health, and your face will round out even though you lose weight.

Get out in the air and exercise as much as you can now that the spring days have come, and you will catch on to these little tricks quickly enough when they learn about them.

One trick is to make the eyes look "distinguished" by forming the eyebrows into a thin, finely arched line. The only trouble is that many women keep the line of their eyebrows so thin that the eyes lose all their character. Thick eyebrows show strength of character and will redeem an otherwise weak face. So while you may thin your eyebrows if you want, be careful not to overdo it.

Tinted cold cream on the eyelashes is a trick to make them seem longer and the eyes larger. One of the latest stunts in Paris is an "enamel" which is rubbed over the entire upper eyelids. The skin does not absorb it but looks very shiny, its purpose being to make the eyes look bright, and the effect is rather startling. I do not like it because it also makes the eyes look cold and hard.

A small faint dot of red at the outer ridge of the eyes makes them look larger but is hard to do without the dot showing so plainly that it gives the artifice away. Many shops sell blue cold cream to be spread in a large triangular patch at the outside corner of each eye. It gives a blue shadow but so faint it is hard to detect it, and it gives great brilliancy to the expression. This is all "make-up" and I do not advise you to try it unless you are an expert. Perfume, of course, is the oldest feminine "trick" that is known.

There are lots of tricks in feminine make-up. will throw off all these little difficulties that are bothering you. Tomorrow—Electric Reduction.

Mother's Advice

MOTHERS must indeed have confidence in a medicine when they recommend its use to their own daughters. Great numbers of women have told how, when they were troubled with female complaints, on the advice of their mothers they took Cardui, the woman's tonic, and found their troubles greatly relieved.

"When I was a young girl, I was weak and ill," says Mrs. Stephen A. Wilson, Broken Arrow, Okla., whose picture is printed above. "At times I would become so 'no account' I would lie on the bed half the time. I had no strength and could eat hardly anything. I did not seem to respond to any treatment. My back ached and, at certain times, I had awful headaches. I would become hysterical and cry and cry.

"My mother had taken Cardui herself, so she made up her mind to give it to me. After a few months, I felt like a different girl. I had taken several bottles of Cardui and I could not measure the improvement, it was so great. I could eat and sleep well and the dreaded backache had left me entirely."

Cardui has been in use for generations.

Menus for the Family

BY SISTER MARY

Breakfast—Stewed rhubarb, cereal, thin cream, country sausage, flannel cakes, maple syrup, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Baked eggs piquant, peanut butter break, apple macaroni pudding, milk, tea.

Dinner—Stuffed pork tenderloin, mashed potatoes, creamed onions, jellied spinach salad, whole wheat bread, canned cherries, coconut macaroons, milk, coffee.

Since eggs were served to their children under school age for their noon meal no meat is necessary for their dinner. The mashed potatoes, creamed onions and jellied spinach simply dressed with lemon juice and olive oil make an adequate dinner for small persons. Remember that their beverage of milk is also food and not a habit and mere delight like your coffee.

Baked Eggs Piquant
Six hard cooked eggs, $\frac{1}{2}$ onion, 2 tablespoons butter, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup cream, 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon pepper, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup fine toasted bread crumbs, $\frac{1}{2}$ lemon.

Melt butter and add onion cut in shreds. Cook until the onion is a deep yellow. Cut hard eggs in halves lengthwise. Add cream to onion and pour this over the eggs arranged in a well-buttered baking dish. Beat eggs until very stiff and add parsley, salt, pepper, crumbs and the juice of lemon. Pour this mixture over contents of baking dish, cover dish and bake in a moderately hot oven until set. It will take about 30 minutes.

SALE OF MALT TONIC CAUSES NATIONAL STIR

WASHINGTON, April 2.—With prohibition law modification the subject of a nation-wide controversy, New York's state legislature about to order an official referendum on the subject, and liquor law enforcement problems everywhere drawing close attention, the prohibition bureau's announcement that it has permitted two brewing companies to market 2.75 per cent "malt tonic" has proved a subject for nation-wide discussion.

A half dozen or more states have parred the government's announcement with declarations that the new tonic cannot be sold within their jurisdiction because of state prohibition laws against it. This has brought into sharp conflict once more the national and state prohibition rulings, and it was predicted that the courts may yet decide just how far permits of the federal government can go in approving sale of alcoholic products forbidden by state laws.

In the meantime, the two brewing companies which will manufacture the "tonic"—the Anheuser-Busch company of St. Louis and the Pabst Brewing company of Milwaukee—agree that the product is purely a medicine and if anyone thinks he can drink enough of it to become intoxicated—let him try and witness his own failure.

Milwaukee, it developed, will have the first chance to determine who is right and who is wrong. The new product will be placed on sale there by the Pabst company at once. No effort will be made immediately to extend the sale to other parts of the country.

The product is to be offered only through drug stores, the manufacturers said.

Discoverer Of Gold Mine Dies In Lonely Shack

RIVERSIDE, April 2.—John Lang, who 20 years ago discovered what later became the immensely rich Lost Horse mine, is dead. His body was found in his shack on the edge of the Colorado desert, 100 miles east of here. The prospector, who was 70 years old, lived the latter part of his days in poverty, having disposed of his valuable property for a trifling sum.

The Town That Was, Was Not—and Is!

THIS is a story of a town that was, was not and is. For many years it was. In two minutes it ceased to exist. Now, a year later, it is.

Its founders were descendants of frontiersmen—romantic and colorful figures who conquered the great empire that lies west of the Appalachians. Their intrepid spirit and tenacity in the face of great odds is reflected in their sons, whom this story concerns.

Away down in southern Indiana where the Wabash tumbles through dark forests toward its confluence with the Ohio, lies the little town of Griffin. Ringed by low hills, its lonely isolation gives it the appearance of being on the frontier. An antique engine, reminiscent of Civil War wood-cuts, puffs down the branch spur of railroad to bring in the town's daily passenger train.

Here, on March 18, 1925, the townspeople went about their untroubled life with no thought of the epic tragedy that was forming to strike. Even had they with a disturbance in the atmosphere more than 2,000 miles away, far down in the Gulf of Lower California? Yet Nature's Four Horsemen even then were preparing to leap to the saddle and with incredible speed to cover the distance to this little Indiana village.

Meteorologists say that it was along the west coast of Mexico that the greatest tornado in the history of mankind started. For 2,000 miles it traveled, leaping high over the great hurdle of the Rockies until, in southeastern Missouri, it suddenly came to earth. The man-made world then began to fly apart in all directions. Spinning along at the rate of a limited train, the gigantic twister took only two hours to reach Griffin. It passed in less than two minutes. And Griffin ceased to exist.

During the World War newspapers were constantly publishing pictures showing the utter destruction of French towns caused by the terrific pounding of the greatest artillery concentrations ever known. Had all the guns in that great conflict been turned on Griffin they could not have done more damage. It looked like a place that had been blown up and abandoned. Fire added its terrors to light a scene of ruin and death about as complete as was ever witnessed in this country. It is probably the only recorded instance where every man, woman and child in a town were either killed or injured. Scores never emerged alive from under the blackened, twisted mass of burning debris. Those who did were stunned by the picture before them. But only for a few moments. With indomitable courage they went about helping pull each other out of the flaming ruins. Men with broken arms and other serious injuries were seen trying to drag pinned neighbors from under the wreckage. One father had the ghastly experience of seeing his son burned to death under a great pile of timbers too heavy to move. When the fire came close the two simply shook hands and said good-bye.

Deeds of striking heroism illumined the stark tragedy while word of the catastrophe was seeping through to the outside world. Workers of the Evansville Chapter of the Red Cross, 30 miles away, were just sitting down to a formal dinner when an excited bell-boy ran into the hotel dining room shouting, "There is a terrible disaster in Griffin. They want doctors, nurses and bedding at once." Leaving their dinner untouched the workers dashed in an automobile for a firehouse where their disaster relief equipment was stored.

A special train was quickly made up and aboard it went hundreds of volunteers with picks, axes and lanterns. This corps of rescuers had been assembled in a novel way. Miss Grace Wright, secretary of the Evansville Chapter of the Red Cross, had visited every large motion picture theatre in the city, described the extent of the disaster and called for volunteers. Dozens left their seats in the theatres and departed for the station.

The quaint old town of New Harmony, six miles from Griffin, had a large gymnasium, which was converted into a first-aid station, where doctors and nurses from Evansville and surrounding towns worked all night treating the injured. Every doctor in Evansville had offered his services free. Eight city ambulances plied back and forth, and 92 victims suffering from serious injuries were brought from Griffin. Special care was given the children of the destroyed town and to get them away from the horror of the tornado scenes many were brought to Evansville in motor buses for a round of the picture shows and other entertainments.

After all the emergency needs of the population of Griffin had been cared for to the extent that no tornado victim suffered from lack of food, clothing, shelter and medical attention, the permanent process of reconstruction began. The American Red Cross, which had been entrusted with this task by the state of Indiana, set up headquarters manned by trained disaster relief workers.

A tent city, healthful and orderly, with gravel walks, canteen and supervised water supply, sprang up. It had the efficiency and cleanly appearance of a well-policed army camp. Townspeople who assembled there to live proudly put up a large sign over its gateway, "American Red Cross Tent City." It could be seen for miles.

GRIFFIN AS IT IS TODAY ATTRACTIVE HOMES OF THIS TYPE STAND ON EXACT SPOT SHOWN IN THE PICTURE BELOW

SWEPT CLEAN FROM END TO END, GRIFFIN, INDIANA, A FEW HOURS AFTER THE GREAT TORNADO OF MARCH 18, 1925.

Then began the miracle of raising a new town from the ashes of the old. On the unit basis of the family the Red Cross began the huge task of reconstructing a community. Its workers "sat in" with each family and ascertained its losses. With this information estimate was made of the family's needs—not only those of the immediate future, but the permanent requirements. Awards were made for rebuilding and refurnishing homes.

Soon Griffin hummed with the "symphony of saws." With the charred debris and wreckage cleared away, new homes of the attractive and popular bungalow type began to rise. As the spring and summer progressed a new Griffin took form. Stores and shops sprang up like mushrooms; the lofty forms of grain elevators arose along the railroad.

While a new school house was being built by the state, the Red Cross constructed and presented to the town a new community building. The entire population attended the dedication ceremonies. In this building trained workers of the American Junior Red Cross provided entertainments for the children of Griffin. Too long acquainted with scenes recalling the most tragic happenings of their lives, the youngsters responded with enthusiasm to this outlet for their naturally joyous emotions, so long pent up.

The Red Cross helped them forget by providing them a place where again they might all play together.

Their happiness had its natural reaction in their parents. "Tornado nerves" vanished for good.

As rapidly as new homes were built, the population of the tent city began to flow into them. Before the first snowfall the tents had been emptied and were taken down. Streets lined with attractive homes began to greet the eye. Now, a year later, Griffin is the same as it was before the disaster. Not the same, if you talk to the town's leading citizens.

"It is prettier than ever," is their proud comment.

And who wouldn't be proud of such an achievement? Less than twelve months ago these people gazed with horror and dismay upon a tangled mass of junk, level with the ground, where their town once stood. It simply did not exist. Only two houses, mere broken shells, without roofs or insides, were left above ground out of the whole town. Is it any wonder that some thought it would be best to abandon the place and move away?

Yet, with the help of the Red Cross and their own unselfish, unremitting labor, the new Griffin, a veritable Phoenix amongst towns, had risen from the ashes!

As the ancient engine puffed into the station and the visitor prepared to depart, a friendly hand took him by the arm.

"Look here," said its owner. And from an inside pocket he pulled a news dispatch, clipped from a paper in a larger Indiana city.

"Estimated Value of Griffin Township Greater Than Before the Tornado," read the headline. "What do you think of that?" asked the Griffinite, proudly.

"Great stuff!" mumbled the visitor, not knowing what else to say right off. But as he rode away he thought: "Here is a people who have built back on the ashes of their sorrow and despair, a place where they can live and look fearlessly to the future. For what can the future hold that would daunt them?"

EVENING SALUTATION

The reason why men are so often disappointed in their search for God is that they do not look for Him first of all where He should chiefly be sought,—in the manifestations He makes of Himself in their own minds and hearts. They suffer the noises of the world to drown the “still, small voice” that never ceases to plead with them to keep in the path of righteousness and peace—David Swing.

ORANGE BLOSSOMS

With Easter but two days away, it is to be expected that all Nature in Orange county would be in beautiful array. Springtime gives to us some of our most wonderful months. Hills are green and flowers blossoming. The joy of riding through our foothills is equalled in the pleasure that we have in feasting our eyes upon our own orange groves.

Of course, citrus orchards, to us, are an old story. It is hard for us to realize the fascination they hold for the easterner seeing California for the first time. How many times, riding along, have you seen an automobile stopped beside the highway while visitors stand beside an orange tree to have a picture taken? The thrill of picking an orange for the first time, to the easterner, is indeed a thrill to write home and tell the folks about.

And just now, at Easter, our orange groves are attired in their loveliest. It has been a fine winter for the citrus orchards. Every tree has its maximum of clean new growth, and every tree is a bower of beautiful blossoms. Hanging in rich profusion in the verdure and among the blossoms is a wealth of fruit. The trees everywhere are loaded with a heavy crop, and the valencia is at no time of the year more strikingly golden than it is in April. The lemons, too, present a sight of charm and beauty. Their leaves are the background for loads of yellowed fruit.

Golden is the fruit of orange and lemon, and golden is the harvest. Thus, with the orchards at their best in appearance and the outlook bright for good prices, every prospect, as well as the atmosphere laden with perfume of orange blossoms, pleases.

The only trouble with Florida is, it's hard to raise fruit and real estate at the same time.

CHECKING YOUR LIGHTS

(Corrected and Reprinted from Yesterday's Register.)

Commencing tomorrow night, state motor officers all over the state are to give particular time and special attention to the lights of automobiles. The head of the state motor vehicle department has so decreed, and, since authority for the enforcement of motor vehicle laws lies far away in Sacramento instead of in the office of a sheriff who usually can be counted upon to be interested in local needs and conditions, we are to have a few evenings of hectic checking up on lights. The suggestion has been made that if the motor police are as assiduous in following up their checking as they are in doing the checking, there would be fewer lights needing checking the next time the head of the department at Sacramento concludes that it is time once again to put the state force to work on lights. By which we mean that every driver whose lights are found askew should be given twenty-four hours in which to bring evidence to the office of the motor police to show that the lights have actually been adjusted, and if that evidence is not brought prosecution should be started at once WITHOUT ANY FIXING OR NEGLECT OF TICKETS.

We are just as anxious as anyone to have all lights checked, and to have all lights made to conform to the state rules. Glare lights are a hazard of the road. And it is up to the state motor police to get rid of illegal hazards.

Incidentally, it appears to us that it is about time for the head of the state motor vehicle department to call for a campaign against over-loaded trucks. Glare lights imperil life; overloaded trucks break up our paved highways; it is somebody's job to see to it that we have much less of both.

Just how successful the impending spasmodic campaign against illegal headlights may be in this county depends upon the sincerity of the effort put forth in every county in the state, including Orange county.

The bones of a camel have been found in a limestone quarry in Utah. Which must be taken as proof that circuses are a very ancient institution.

BIG TAX COLLECTION

The new revenue act, with its liberal reductions, promptly justifies itself. Income tax collections for the first quarter, due March 15, turn out to be larger than the treasury department expected.

This does not mean necessarily that the government will collect more than the estimated sum for the entire year, and leave a big surplus in the treasury. There may be special reasons for the present showing. An unusual number of people may have paid in full this time, because they found their total tax much smaller, instead of making only a quarter-payment as they used to do.

It need not surprise anyone, however, if the year's collections do run higher than the statisticians figured. Human nature enters largely into tax payments, and it is natural to make tax returns more liberally, with less effort to figure exemptions or conceal income, when the government itself has dealt liberally with the taxpayers.

Mary Garden says that a five cent cigar is as good as a dollar cigar—they both smell awful. But that is plagiarism. Josh Billings said half a century ago that one who chewed tobacco ought to chew plug—it was the nastiest.

CROSSING MISSOURI MUD

One of the most difficult and unpleasant features of cross-continent tours has been the muddy roads of Missouri. There was the big state of Missouri, right in the road. It had to be gone through or gone around. Going through it was extremely sticky and unpleasant. Going around it took a long time. But times have changed.

The Trans-Missouri route, extending 265 miles from St. Louis to Kansas City, has just been opened. All of this is pavement except about 60 miles of gravel, passable at all times. Motorists can now drive across Missouri in seven hours. The state has plans for paving 7,640 miles of primary and secondary roads besides.

And such is human nature that, now that the tourist can get across Missouri comfortably in seven

In the Spring a Donkey's Fancy--

Crime Problem Is National

Kansas City Star

Judge Ewing Cockrell of Warrensburg has suggested that there should be a national commission to make extensive researches into the causes of crime, its manifestations and its control. Criminal operations are local, but the crime problem is national. Being national, would it not be well to have the kind of federal survey Judge Cockrell proposes? No other country has so many criminals or so much crime as the United States. Probably no other country—certainly no nation of comparable rank—has such complexity and diversity of laws dealing with crime.

The disposition of the time is to seek the causes of the ascendancy of crime in this country and the means of checking it. The recent survey by the Missouri Association for Criminal Justice is an outstanding example of this activity. Reports thus far made by the association have attracted favorable attention in this state and considerable notice elsewhere. A few days ago one of these reports was published in the Boston papers, with favorable comment recommending similar procedure in Massachusetts.

But there should be more co-operation among states than is likely to grow out of state efforts alone. If the state efforts were supplemented by federal surveys and recommendations, more especially suggestions designed to bring about conformity of regulations, laws, procedure and punishment—or an approximation to such conformity—much good might result.

The cost of such survey would be inconsequential compared with the good it might accomplish. As Judge Cockrell says, in addition to the survey of conditions and original suggestions that might be made, a federal investigation would bring to the front the best weapons the several states themselves have found in fighting crime and would expose the greatest weaknesses in their systems.

Teachers and Critics

Oakland Tribune

There are few who do not have convictions on: "What is the matter with the teaching profession, and how can its evils be cured?" An evidence is the fact that more than three thousand replies came in when the Delphine asked the question, 2138 from teachers and 1147 from non-teachers. A distinguished group of judges, headed by Dr. David Starr Jordan of Leland Stanford University, has been going over the papers, and some illuminating tabulations have been made, one being that the teaching profession, a small portion of the public, turned in two answers to one from all the rest.

Leading criticisms of the teachers were directed at "the system" machine education, large classes, no individuality possible for teacher or pupil, too much supervision, too many subjects, failure of the home, children not trained in character, parents not co-operative, salaries too low, unequal salaries for men and women, competition of under-training teachers, politics in school management, teaching a stepping stone to other jobs, etc.

It is notable that the non-teachers agreed upon many of these points. In order, the leading criticisms and suggestions from those not in the profession included: Only real teachers should be allowed to teach. Incompetents should be weeded out, better home training and co-operation from parents needed, better salaries according to merit, let married teachers teach, less criticism of teachers, better social position, more freedom in personal life, extend the influence of parent-teacher associations, improve the character of school boards, etc.

The facts that this query inspired so large a response and that the teaching profession contributed the greater number of suggestions are noteworthy. So long as there is a live American interest in the welfare of the schools and a general and persistent urge for betterment, the real educator is optimistic of the future.

Had Answer to War Talk

San Francisco Chronicle

Canada need not feel that it is left out on a limb because of the view expressed by the late Lord Fisher, former head of the British navy, that in the event of war between the United States and the Dominion, Great Britain would never spend a penny nor fire a gun in its defense.

What the blunt old sailor undoubtedly meant in so expressing his mind to Henri Bourassa, who on Tuesday reported it to the Dominion parliament, was that the eventuality was so preposterous that he was justified in declaring his country's utter indifference.

Practical-minded men do not waste their time building up theories of what they might do under a set of circumstances never likely to occur. And the whole history of the relations of the United States and its northern neighbor places the likelihood of war between them in the realm of wicked and insane speculation.

Canadians know that as well as the people of the United States, and realize that the outbreak of Lord Fisher was no doubt intended as a rebuke to an idle questioner.

WHAT RABIES SERUM IS

The Pasteur treatment will prevent rabies from developing if given early enough, but it will not prevent rabies once the disease has begun. It is prepared by inoculating a rabbit with rabies virus from a dog.

The inoculated rabbit dies in about 16 days and another rabbit is inoculated from the first one. After several rabbits have been inoculated a virus is obtained which will kill in from five to six days.

The spinal cord of a rabbit killed by fixed virus is carefully dried for eight days. At the end of this time this spinal cord is cut up into little bits, ground up in salt solution, and a small portion is injected under the skin of the person bitten.

A few hours later a similar preparation is given of a cord which has been dried for only seven days. In succession and alternation, injections are given of cords which have been dried for six, five, four, three and even two days, the injections lasting for from 15 to 21 days, from one to three injections being given each day.

The question has been asked whether or not the treatment is entirely free from danger. The answer is no, but the danger is small. Further, the danger from rabies is so much greater that the danger from the treatment may be ignored.

If all dogs could be prevented from biting for a period of six months the disease would disappear. All ownerless dogs should be humanely destroyed. Dog owners should be made legally responsible for injuries inflicted by their dogs. All dogs should be properly and humanely muzzled and kept muzzle wherever rabies exists.

Finally, an attempt is being made to immunize dogs against this disease. It is proved to be successful and practicable it may prove the solution to the somewhat vexing problem of the mad dog.

THE SPLENDOR FALLS

The splendor falls on castle walls
And snowy summits old in story;
The long light shakes across the lakes,

And the wild cataract leaps in glory.
Blow, bugle; blow, set the wild echoes flying.
Blow, bugle; answer, echoes, dying, dying, dying.

O, hark, O, hear! how thin and clear,
And thinner, clearer, farther going!
O, sweet and far from cliff and scar

The horns of elfland faintly blowing!
Blow, let us hear the purple glens replying,
Blow, bugle; answer, echoes, dying, dying, dying.

O love, they die in yon rich sky.
They faint on hill or field or river;
Our echoes roll from soul to soul,

And grow for ever and for ever.
Blow, bugle, blow, set the wild echoes flying.
And answer, echoes, answer, dying, dying, dying.

—Alfred Tennyson.

APRIL IN THE HILLS

On West Virginia hills, the mountain laurel

Is like a spray of rosy, ocean foam.

In West Virginia hills, the rhododendrons

Embellish every little mountain home.

And like a tongue of flame, the honeysuckle

Flashes its fire upon the mountain breeze

While green, the lacy tendrils of the grapevine

Flaunt from the boughs of towering forest trees.

Monongahela's waters, singing madly,

Start on their happy journey to the sea.

Oh West Virginia hills and vines and flowers,

How can you bloom—and I not there to see?

CHRONICLES OF THE LITTLE GRAY HOUSE

As it happens, this isn't really a

Chronicle of the Little Gray House at all—it is a chronicle of the Register office, or the police station or perhaps just of April Fool.

And here and now, the Patchwork Quilt

Quilt felicitates Santa Ana upon having the most consistently good-natured policemen on duty at the station that anyone could desire.

Yesterday, you will remember, was the first day of April.

A day sacred to little boys the world over,

as offering opportunity for all manner of jokes.

We have in the Register office, Not in point of years, perhaps, but his soul has kept its schoolgirl complexion.

Yesterday at noon when I returned to the office from lunch, it was to be greeted with "there's a call for you from 217." So I called and asked who wanted to speak to me.

There was a conference at the other end of the line and then someone said politely, "This is the police station, and there seems to have been no one calling you."

Then there was a laugh. It seems that I wasn't the first to have the joke tried out on. But neither was I the last. For presently in came "Mace" and "Mace," be it known, is the office boss. And he found a message on his desk, "call 217."
